Saugerties Approves Bond Issue

$2,875,000 Plan Passes, 1,235-802

A $2,875,000 bond issue for the three-pronged expansion program was approved by Saugerties Central School District voters Wednesday by a vote of 1,235 to 802 in the lightest balloting since June 1956.

Public approval came after three successive defeats — May 1962, June 1962 and Sept. 1960.

The bond issue calls for construction of a 21-room elementary school estimated to cost $1,130,000, at a 15-acre portion of the Winston farm. The site was donated by Ferdinand Schaller. The new building would house kindergarten through Sixth Grade and includes 18 grade classrooms, two kindergarten rooms, one ungraded room, a library, cafeteria, gymnasium, health room and administrative facilities. The total cost includes site development and equipment.

Milliken's Plan

The five-room addition to Mt. Marion School estimated to cost $135,000 includes five classrooms, library-resource space, and increased storage area. Mt. Marion School houses kindergarten through Sixth Grade. The design according to architect's plans of Albert E. Milliken of Kingston, provides a parallel wing attached to the existing wing of the school.

The high school addition estimated to cost $1,590,000 provides 26 additional classrooms and other facilities for biology, homemaking, art, music, ungraded classes, library, physical education area and administrative and guidance rooms. The remaining $20,000 to make up the total allocated to reconstruction work on the junior-senior high school and to enlarge existing facilities to provide for the increased school population.

Target Date 1964

Robert Herb, president of Saugerties Board of Education said in discussions with the architect for the project, it was decided to start immediately with plans for the addition at Mt. Marion elementary school with a target date of September 1964.

Herb said it is possible that bids for the projects would be advertised late in the fall. Completion of the entire expansion program is expected by the fall term of 1965.

$5.90 Tax Increase

Payment of the principal and interest on the bonds has been estimated to increase the school tax rate by $5.90 per $1,000 on assessed valuation. This figure is based on estimated state aid and assessed valuation of the district property. This does not include added services and teachers required for the new buildings. The increase in taxes from the bond issue will be reflected

14,000 Still Fail Even Though Marks Upgraded

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The State Education Department says marks of almost 14,000 students in Regents examinations in physics and earth sciences still failed to meet the passing requirements, despite the department's decision to upgrade results of the tests this month.

The department said Tuesday it had found the tests to have been "unduly difficult."

The department established a mark of 55 in physics and 60 in earth sciences as the equivalent of the normal passing mark of 65. All grades through 98 were raised by the varying amounts under a conversion table.

Over 15,000 of the 40,000 students who took the physics test failed originally, the department reported Wednesday. But 8,000 moved up to or above the passing level with the decision to upgrade marks. Another 7,200 still failed despite the change.

In earth sciences, 25,000 students took the examination. The conversion lifted 2,350 to the passing level and 6,570 still failed.

Kremlin Trying to Offset JFK Tour

BERLIN (AP)—There is speculation that Premier Khrushchev may bring Soviet spacewoman Valentina Tereshkova to East Berlin Friday in an attempt to offset President Kennedy's triumphant visit to West Berlin.

Observers said the Soviet leader will have to do something spectacular to whip up enthusiasm among the East Berliners.

Doubt Trick Will Work

There has been speculation that Khrushchev might reveal a new Soviet policy on German problems. But the general feeling is that he is too busy disputing with the Red Chinese to take on the West for a new period of acute tension.

There is little chance, however, that even the 26-year-old spacewoman could bring out the crowds or arouse the enthusiasm that greeted Kennedy in West Berlin Wednesday.

Can't Compare Visits: Red

Gerhard Goetting, an East German Communist party official, said during a round-table discussion with East Berlin newsmen that "The visits of Khrushchev and Kennedy cannot be compared."

Khrushchev, said Goetting, was coming to support East Germany's policy of peace as well as to honor East German Communist boss Walter Ulbricht, who will be 70 Sunday.

Kennedy did nothing but "aid the West German militarists who want to start another war . . . He never said a single word in West Berlin about the necessity of keeping peace in the world," Goetting said.

Khrushchev is scheduled to land at Schoenefeld Airport, on the outskirts of the city's Soviet sector, and drive in a motorcade to the East Berlin city hall, the East German news agency ADN reported.

Khrushchev will be given a reception by the city government, then go to Ulbricht's residence.

It was not known how long Khrushchev would stay in East Berlin.

Town of Esopus Industrial Group Elects Officers

Joseph F. Brown was elected president of The Town of Esopus Industrial Development Corporation at an organizational meeting last night in its headquarters in the Spinnenweber Building, Port Ewen. The corporate certificate from the Department of State has been received by the organization.

Other officers elected to serve the corporation are John F. Spinnenweber, vice president; Richard W. Griggs, secretary-treasurer. Six trustees elected were Sol Rosenthal, Charles Montafia, John Houghtaling, Warren Dunham, Zale Liese and Bill Yesse, Jr.

Develop Industry

The purpose of the organization, under an act of the Legislature which established the Job Development Authority, is to develop industry and thereby create employment. The State Department of Commerce is the parent organization.

The New York State Job Development Authority has as its executive director H. Kay Kerr. The comptroller-treasurer is Al Haven and the attorney is John Powell.

The Town of Esopus Industrial Development Corp. is a non-profit organization operated by public spirited citizens who have the future of the town at heart,

Senior GOP Leaders Are To Stress Unity to Youth

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Feuding Young Republicans took time out today to hear from senior party leaders expected to counsel unity.

The main excitement centered over the night speech due to be delivered by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., clearly the hero of more than 1,000 youthful Republicans going into the third day of their four-day convention.

Also slated to appear were former U.S. Sen. William Knowland of California in the morning, and freshman Sen. Jack Miller of Iowa at noon.

All three were expected to follow the lead of Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield, who advised the Young Republicans Wednesday to form a united front and stop intra-party warfare.

However, discord appeared both in the organization ranks and in the concurrent meeting of the Collegiate Republicans.

After a day of wrangling, the college group wound up with two chairmen elected for the next two years—each claiming to be the "legitimate" chairman.

The more moderate of the two is Ward White from Russell, Kan., a student at Cornell law school. He was backed by outgoing Young Republican chairman Leonard J. Nadasdy. Sandra Spence of Allegheny College, Pa., was named co-chairman on the White ticket.

On the other side of the ballroom, a more conservative group chose Jerry Dickson, a law student at the University of Kansas from Newton, Kan. He had the support of outgoing college chairman James Harff. Sharon Powers of Durham, N.H., was elected Dickson's cochairman.

GOP Aims At Having Rights Say

To Give Support For Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican price tag for helping the administration get a civil rights bill through Congress is clear: A strong hand in writing the legislation.

GOP members of a House judiciary subcommittee showed Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy Wednesday he can count on their support only if he is willing to compromise on the administration's seven-point program.

A second administration witness goes before the subcommitttee today. Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz will concentrate on President Kennedy's proposals to improve the job opportunities of Negroes.

Intends Amendments

In advance of Wirtz' testimony, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., made known that he intends to offer an amendment to deny National Labor Relations Board and other benefits to unions that practice discrimination.

"I don't think the administration will support the amendment in a showdown but I am going to give its supporters a chance to go on record," Goldwater said in an interview.

Launching the administration civil rights bill on its troublestrewn course through Congress was a five-hour job for the attorney general, who was subjected to detailed, legalistic questioning, mostly by Republicans.

Their chief criticism was aimed at a proposal to ban racial discrimination in hotels, restaurants and other places serving the public.

Lindsay's View

Rep. John V. Lindsay, R-N.Y., a leader of the GOP civil rights bloc in the House, said after the hearing he thought Kennedy had "acquitted himself very well."

Lindsay expressed disappointment, however, that Kennedy had not even read the 41 Republican civil rights bills introduced last January and the 38 additional bills put in this month, most of them covering the same ground as the bill outlined by the President last week.

Chief Disagreement

The chief disagreement between Kennedy and the Republicans was over the public accommodations section. The administration is relying chiefly on the federal power to regulate interstate commerce for its authority to act in this field, while the GOP favors pinning any action to the 14th amendment to the constitution. At the heart of this disagreement is the traditional Republican opposition to any expansion of federal power in the private enterprise sector.

Lindsay, commenting on the administration position later, said flatly he doubted it would even be sustained by the full House

5 Companies Keep Inferno From Reaching Main Plant

An intense fire raged out of control in 90-degree heat this noon at the Empire State Paper Mills, Inc., Saugerties, but fire fighters from five companies battled desperately to keep it from spreading to the main plant.

The flames destroyed an old laboratory at the plant, adjacent to the main building, where the blaze apparently broke out, but firemen kept the fire from reaching the main building at noon. There was, however, water damage to the main office.

The building is located on East Bridge Street near the Esopus Creek Bridge, connecting Route 9W with Partition Street.

Employes Are Safe

All the plant's 21 employes were safely evacuated and there were no reports of injuries.

The cause of the fire was not known at press time, but officials said they believed it originated in the old laboratory, attached by a covered ramp to the main plant.

Ulster County Mutual Aid dispatchers said Saugerties firemen were summoned at 11:15 a. m. Centerville and Glasco were called to stand by. Central Hudson Gas and Electric emergency crews were called at 11:24 to cut down power lines. Malden was summoned to stand by a short time later.

Still Burning at Noon

By noon the blaze was still in progress, although all of the village's fire fighting manpower and equipment, along with those from Centerville, Cedar Grove, Glasco and Malden were hard pressed to keep the flames from spreading.

They watered down a nearby shed and the area of a 300 gallon kerosene tank as precaution against their taking fire either from the flames in the source of the fire or from the intense heat of the flames and the sweltering temperature.

Report Transformer Blast

John R. Baliotti, president of the firm, was not available for comment or initial appraisal of the damage. The mill which manufactures disposable vacuum cleaner bags, is the former Sheffield paper mill.

It was apparent from one of the spot observers that the plant would be closed for some time. There were reports that two or three power transformers blew up in the blaze, but no further explosions were reported.

Mutual Aid reported all companies were still at the scene and the fire was still out of control as the Freeman went to press.

Job Not Closing Span

One-Way Traffic to Be Used at Times

State engineers have decided to make "piecemeal" repair of the 41-year-old Rondout Creek Bridge rather than close it to traffic for a complete redecking as was originally planned, John D. Manning, assistant district engineer at Poughkeepsie, said today.

"There will be times," he said, however, when maintenance of two-way traffic, "will be impossible," and alternate one-way travel will be maintained.

Closing Opposed

A report several months ago that the state planned to close the span and detour traffic over the Eddyville Bridge during the redecking project, drew objections from both Kingston and the Town of Esopus, and after city and town officials conferred with engineers, the latter decided upon a re-examination to determine if a repair schedule could not be completed without closing the bridge.

Manning said maintenance engineers found that repairs could be made from time to time to keep the span in safe condition pending the opening of a new bridge, which is now in the planning stage. Engineers, he said, are on "no definite timetable yet" in advancing plans for the new span.

Tied With Renewal

Tentative plans call for a new bridge to span the Rondout at a point north of the present bridge and to connect with an arterial at a point parallel to the lower end of Hasbrouck Avenue. It will be tied in with downtown's urban renewal project.

Repair of the present span will not involve the "complete replacement of deck" as originally

Three GOP Posts Up for Contests, Keyser Seeks One

With the unofficial Ulster County Republican convention only two weeks away, the political pot has begun to boil. There are only three county offices to be filled in November, that of family court judge, county clerk and coroner.

It is expected there will be an appointment to the position of family court judge by Governor Rockefeller prior to election and that appointee will undoubtedly be Special City Judge Hugh R. Elwyn, who would become the Republican candidate in November.

The Republican convention will be held on Saturday, July 15 at 11 a. m. at the Kingston Municipal Auditorium.

To Name Delegates

At that time candidates for county office will be recommended and committeemen and delegates to the judicial conference will be named.

Republican County Chairman Jesse McHugh of Shawangunk, today stated that there had been no decision on candidates who may be recommended in party

Imbalance In Wards At Present

Change in Control Is 2-Year Matter

Election of a Mayor for four years instead of two years and a Common Council of nine members elected at large for four years instead of 13 aldermen elected in wards with an alderman-at-large are among the tentative proposals in a revised charter for Kingston.

Chairman Bernard A. Feeney Jr., of the 12-member Charter Revision Committee, said today, a draft of the proposed charter to be submitted at public hearings and put up to the voters on Election Day is being made by the commission' professional consultant, Dr. Troy R. Westmeyer.

1966 Date Stipulated

If the voters approve, Feeney said, the new charter would become effective Jan. 1, 1966.

At the first election under the new charter, in November, 1965, nine councilmen would be elected from candidates nominated by each of the major political parties, and possibly others nominated by other political parties or by independent petitions.

The four candidates receiving the higher number of votes would serve for terms of four years and the five candidates receiving the next five higher number of votes would serve for two years. At the following regular election five councilmen would be elected for terms of four years.

President Up to Council

The council would elect from among its members, the charter proposes, one who would have the title of president of the council. He would serve for two years and during the absence or disability of the mayor, he would serve as mayor.

Members of the council would serve without pay. However, they would be reimbursed for expenses incurred for which vouchers may be required.

It appears obvious, attorney Feeney said, that the Commission's concentration during its study of more than a year, was on giving the citizens a greater opportunity to be heard in his matter, by strengthening the system of checks and balances between the legislative and executive branches. He noted that

Five Boys Accused Of Building Fire With Grave Flags

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Police have accused five boys of building a bonfire with hundreds of flags from veteran's graves.

The youngsters were charged Wednesday with malicious mischief. Detectives quoted one as saying: "we did it for the heck of it."

Police said they stole the flags June 14 from graves at Holy Sepulchre, a Roman Catholic cemetery.

Four of the boys were 15 and the other 14 years old. They were released in custody of their parents pending family court action.

U. S. Takes Ho-Hum View On Sex-Spy, Security

EDITORS NOTE—The Profumo sex-security scandal has shaken Britain. In Sweden an air force colonel has been arrested on charges of spying for the Soviet Union and at the United Nations there are reports that U.S. security agents are investigating a call girl racket that catered to diplomats. All this has produced in official Washington a curious silence, the subject of the following article.

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—A trio of sex and spy scandals in Europe and the United Nations seems to have aroused some curiosity but little excitement in official Washington.

The FBI won't say anything officially, but U.S. agents obviously are investigating the Profumo affair, the Swedish spy scandal and an alleged call girl racket at the United Nations. But no official, either in the Kennedy administration or in Congress, is contending that the succession of scandals has wrenched the security of the United States.

Most officials are keeping their views to themselves.

"You don't hear it talked about much in Congress," said Sen. John Tower, R-Tex.

Tower, one of the few congressmen to comment, had this to say about the Profumo affair in England:

"I think the concern on the U.S. security side is relatively mild."

But, Tower added: "My big con-

Scotland Yard was originally an area just off Whitehall, London, which took its name from a palace there during the 10th century reign of Edgar. The Scottish kings were given a piece of ground next to the new palace of Westminster. It was to serve as a residence for them on their yearly visit to pay homage to England. London's first Commissioner of Police and Improvement set up quarters there in 1662.

Contract Clears Way for Return To Upstate Jobs

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (AP)—A contract settlement cleared the way for a return to work today of about 300 construction workers on strike-bound projects in four central New York counties.

Representatives of Local 7, of the Laborers' Union, AFL-CIO, and the Association of Contractors of the Triple Cities agreed Wednesday night to a proposal calling for a 12-cent-an-hour increase over a one-year period. The agreement ended a strike that began June 4.

The settlement came at a meetin of labor and managment representatives with state and federal mediators and Binghamton Mayor John J. Burns. A union spokesman said workers would return to work at sites in Broome, Chenango, Otsego and Delaware counties.

Wednesday's tension mounted when 44 tires on 23 automobiles owned by construction workers were punctured as some laborers crossed over picket lines to return to work.

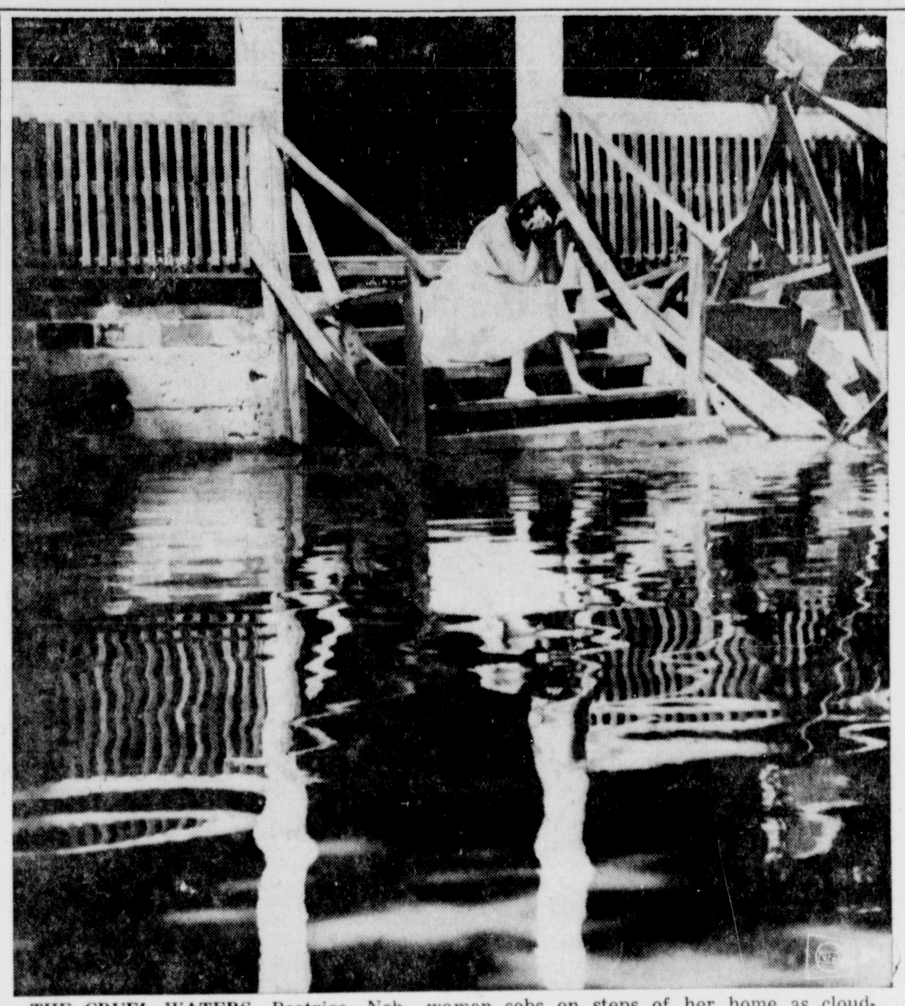

The incident occurred at a public housing job in Binghamton.

The union has sought a 46-cent-an-hour increase over a three-year period.

The contract is retroactive to June 1, the union spokesman said.

Thinks Rocky Could Beat JFK

AMSTERDAM, N. Y. (AP)—Republican State Chairman Fred A. Young believes Gov. Rockefeller could defeat President Kennedy in the 1964 presidential election if the Republican governor won his party's nomination.

That view, Young said Wednesday is "my personal opinion."

Rockefeller, one of the leading Republican possibilities for presidential nomination, has not indicated whether he will seek the nomination.

Young said in a speech at a meeting of the Young Republicans of Montgomery and Fulton counties:

"I believe with increasing conviction each day that the people will terminate the Kennedy government by guess and grope and entrust our national government to responsible Republican leadership."

Crop Below Average

ALBANY, N. Y. (APV(— New York State's sour cherry crop suffered from winter and spring freezes this year, but not so badly as the cherry crops in other Great Lakes States.

Production in the five states—New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin is expected to total only 68,200 tons, or 42 per cent of last year's and the smallest crop since 1945, the New York Crop Reporting Service says. New York's estimated crop will total 16,000 tons, 19 per cent below last year's and 24 per cent below average.

Shipments Decline

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The State Public Works Department says freight shipments on the Erie Canal, main link in the State Barge Canal System, declined by 92 per cent during the first two weeks of the navigation season this year.

The system was opened April 17, but the Erie Canal was closed to through traffic until mid-May because of major repairs.

From April 17 to April 30, shipping on the Erie Section totaled ed Wednesday. This represented a drop of nearly 89,000 tons from the first two weeks of the 1962 navigation season.

EXPERTS KEEP SILENT

In America today, the man who masters a specialty of major consequence, like space or nuclear or military science, is sometimes judged to be an expert in fields beyond his own.

To some degree this has perhaps always been so in this country. When industrialists were building America in earlier decades, they were listened to on everything under the sun.

Yet there is great danger in imagining that the man who is an expert in one realm is thereby qualified to make broad political, economic or moral judgments.

For instance, the scientist who works at improving our nuclear weapons is not by that fact necessarily fit to tell us when and how, as a nation, to use them or to say we should not use them at all.

Similarly, the general who spends a great deal of his time fathoming the military tactics of communist nations is not by that alone qualified to judge best what we should do about Red tactics in the political and diplomatic world.

A number of prominent men get into this problem in a new document prepared for the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, a Ford Foundation offshoot.

Charles Frankel, professor of philosophy at Columbia university, says most political decisions involve weighing evidence from a wide range of different specialties. He adds:

"This means that even those who are experts in one field become laymen the moment they move into another field . . .

"No one today can be an expert in all the fields that he should ideally be . . . to make public decisions."

What counts in such decisions, says Frankel, is not "omnicompetent knowledge but something closer to wisdom and common sense, and an understanding of when and where and for what reasons to rely on the advice of experts."

As another contributor to the document, Arkansas' Sen. J. William Fulbright, observes, this kind of judgment is especially required where matters of morals are concerned.

"There are no experts in morals," says Frankel.

A subject apart is how to get wise, broad, common sense judgments from both the rank and file electorate and the political leadership in a democracy.

It is enough here to make the one big point: "Expertise" does not transfer. The major public decisions involving our goals, our moral bent, our pace of effort, our priorities in national life, are not the province of the narrow specialist—however supreme he is in his chosen field.

Extremists in the South are determined to uphold state's rights—among which, apparently, they include the right to shoot those who disagree with them.

FAREWELL TO MERCURY

Many an American will feel a sentimental twinge as Project Mercury comes to its official close. No other peacetime undertaking of the government has attracted such widespread interest as this succession of orbital flight in Mercury capsules.

It is fitting, however, that the national space effort should now proceed to concentrate on Project Gemini. For when the first Gemini capsule orbits the globe with its two-man crew, another long stride will have been taken toward the goal of a manned journey to the moon.

It had been felt by some, notably including the astronauts themselves, that one further multi-orbital Mercury flight should be accomplished. This additionl experience would have been valuable, certainly. Nor can it be ignored that public interest may lag during the necessarily long interval until the first Gemini flight.

When these and other arguments for another Mercury orbiting are weighed up, however, they do not counterbalance the reasons for pressing on in Project Gemini without hindrance or distraction. That is the focal point of our space program now.

TEACHING THE TRUTH ABOUT COMMUNISM

When John Foster Dulles was Secretary of State, it was Washington that seemed bent on making it certain that co-existence with Soviet Russia would not be sought on terms that might ultimately prove to be disadvantageous to the West. But while Dulles pursued a policy of calculated intransigeance the governors in the various states of the union were rather neutral on the subject of the Cold War.

Recently, however, a curious reversal has taken place. Today the State governors are taking the lead in promoting a stand-up attitude toward Communism. The Kennedy Administration, by contrast, "plays it soft," hoping, in the President's words, to "encourage constructive changes in the Communist bloc."

Whether Kennedy is wise in trying to wigwag pleas for conciliation to Khrushchev is a question that may be determined as early as next week when the Chinese Communists are scheduled to meet with Soviet Communists to debate international revolutionary strategy. But as the White House follows a policy of watchful waiting accompanied by placating gestures, certain State governors have apparently decided that no good is likely to come out of Moscow and are busy taking steps to push that point of view in their high school systems. Governor Farris Bryant of Florida, a crusader for realistic courses on Communism, recently sparked a conference of Cold War Education at Tampa, Fla., where some excellent speeches were made by former Ambassador to Cuba Earl E. T. Smith, Senator Tom Dodd of Connecticut, Operating Director Clarence Perry Oakes of the Institute for American Strategy, and Admiral Felix Stump, executive officer of the Freedoms Foundation. These speakers weren't giving an inch to Khrushchev. Nor were the various seminar participants, who included such long-term students of Communism as Dr. Stefan T. Possony of Stanford University's Hoover Institute, Professors Anthony T. Bouscaren of Lemoyne University and Gerhart Niemeyer of Notre Dame, Dr. Robert Morris, former judge of the Municipal Court of New York City, and John M. Fisher, the president of the Institute for American Strategy.

The seminar participants at Tampa were gratified to note that high school courses on the nature of Communism were proliferating throughout the land. More important, the idea that such courses should be taught from a standpoint of sterile neutrality has been diminishing. Louisiana, Georgia, California, and New York have all passed state laws making it either mandatory or permissive to teach about Communism in the schools. This could, in a country without basic cultural values, result in courses that would amount to deadpan theoretical description of Communist and democratic capitalist systems, with no value choice indicated by the teachers. But the states are apparently deciding that the old story of the impartial frontiersman, who yelled "Go it wife, go it bear" when his spouse took on a grizzly at the cabin door, has no relevance in the Cold War era. The New York law permits teaching about Communism and "its destructive effects." The California law specifically prohibits any teaching which amounts to advocacy of Communism.

What all this comes to is that our fellow-traveling "liberals" have lost out in their campaign to keep the secondary schools of America from actively supporting an anti-Communist value system. The idea that a teacher must not point out such things as Stalin's liquidation of three million kulaks lest mention of the fact be considered "controversial" or "prejudicial" is dying.

The Tampa conference on Cold War Education will be followed up on July 18 by a so-called "five governors committee" conference at Miami Beach, where such veteran anti-Communist stalwarts as Eugene Lyons, author of "The Red Decade," and Dr. Bella Dodd, a New York lawyer who was for many years a Communist Party specialist in school subversion, will talk to the governors and other state officials.

Well, the anti-Communist movement is spreading where it can hurt the Communist most, to the public school systems that do so much to shape the minds and the emotions of the coming generations. Even the National Education Association, which was originally pretty neutral in questions involving Cold War ideology, has joined with such organizations as the American Bar Association and the American Legion in promoting high school courses that will discuss Communism in the context of the general nature of man. If this movement continues to spread, no appeasement of Moscow on the part of Washington will be ratified at the grassroots of America. This is a prospect we can all cheer.

Medicine Recommends Standards for Boxing

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Accidental deaths occur in almost any sport, but the aspect of boxing that gives it its bad name is that none of the injuries incurred can properly be called accidental.

This is because, unlike football or baseball, boxing is a sport in which the avowed purpose of the contestants is to batter the opponent senseless.

Those who would defend the sport claim that it helps to keep many fit, and lures them away from mischievous gangs. Medical authorities are coming more and more to believe that there are better ways of accomplishing this purpose.

The best that can be said for boxing, is that, along with teaching these boys how to inflict injury on others, it does help train them in how to avoid injury to themselves and defend themselves in an unprovoked fight.

Blows below the belt were outlawed long ago and are not tolerated by fight fans; yet such blows, although painful, have never been fatal. It is much more important to outlaw blows to the head because, aside from producing cauliflower ears and flattened noses, these are the blows that cause concussions, the punch-drunk state, and death. Often it is not any one blow or bout, but an accumulation of minor brain injuries, that leads a boxer to suffer from dizziness, loss of memory, blurred vision, and persistent headaches.

It is doubtful, however, that fight fans would support recommended rules or legislation that would prohibit blows to the head, because that is precisely what they pay their money to see. That the headgear sometimes worn gives inadequate protection was shown in the recent death of 19-year-old Francesco Valesquez, who was wearing such gear when he received a fatal blow.

The Commission on Medical Aspects of Sports of the American Medical Association has re-examined the whole question. Since there seems to be little hope of outlawing boxing, they have made the following recommendations:

A thorough medical examination of each contestant before he enters the ring.

A physician present at all bouts, with authority to stop the fight.

Opponent to be declared the winner when a contestant sustains more than one knockdown in any one round.

Automatic suspension of any contestant who is knocked out or severely injured, until physician O.K.'s resumption of boxing.

Adoption of shock-absorbing ring padding under the canvas.

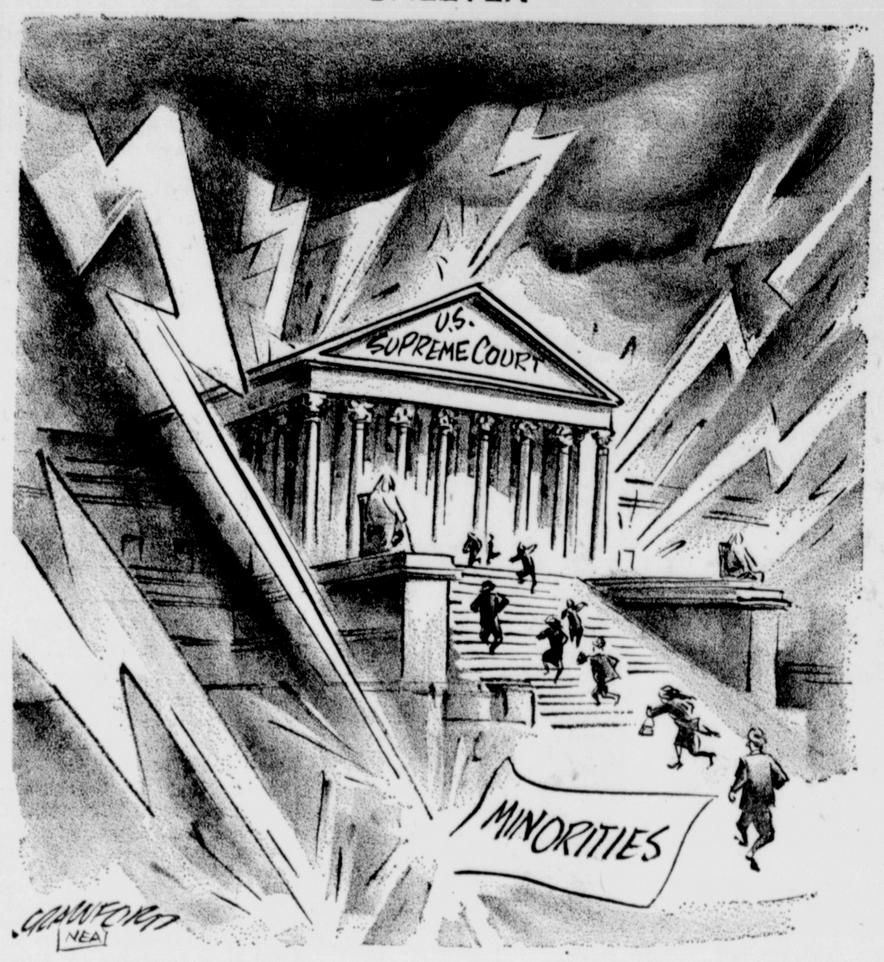

Required use of headgear and mouthpieces.

Training to assure the maximum protection that goes with good condition.

Referees familiar with and alert to the health hazards inherent in boxing.

Observance of these recommendations will not eliminate all injuries in the ring, but they will go a long way to reduce the number and seriousness of such injuries.

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Any idea that American race relations can be solved now—immediately—is considered an impossibility. President Kennedy's speech to the Conference of Mayors in Honolulu, telling them it was primarily their job, won't do it. The President's 15-minute cocktail-hour chat to the nation won't do it. The President's message to Congress and whatever legislation may be passed as a result won't do it, by itself.

ALTHOUGH THE UNITED STATES has had this problem for over a century, it may still take several generations of painful, patient work before racial tolerance — the root of the trouble — can be eradicated.

What is therefore considered a principal need is for someone to come up with a long-range plan.

It might set forth what should and can be done now, what should be done at the end of 5, 10, 20 years, or longer.

For it is recognized that — overnight — 20 million people can't be educated, and trained, for better jobs so that they can pay for better housing and enjoy a higher standard of living. This will take one generation at least. Overcoming age-old prejudices, intolerence, racial, religious and cultural tensions will take a couple of generations more. For this is a major problem in human relations education for everyone.

There aren't many experts in this field. One who qualifies as an authority is Dr. Alfred J. Marrow, 1956-60 Chairman of New York's Commission on Intergroup Relations, COIR. He has just been given the 1963 Brotherhood Award of the National Conference of Christians and Jews at the American Booksellers convention in Washington for his big, new book, "Changing prejudices, he says, is a long-time job.

How to go about it? Marrow thinks there are some things that can be done by law now. When former President Truman ordered complete integration of the United States armed services, that was done overnight because it could be enforced by military courts martial. Ending segregation on Pullman cars, in railroad, bus and air terminals could be done in a relatively short time under the Constitution's interstate commerce clause.

Similarly Americans of any race or color might, by law, be given the right to attend any public institution, be given equal service in places of public accommodation, be assured the right of access to decent housing, and guaranteed the right to vote in federal elections.

Negro citizens might not use all these rights even if they were granted them by better laws, Marrow believes. That has been the experience in New York and other cities that have taken the lead in trying to break down racial barriers.

THE MERE FACT people know they have these rights and can exercise them makes them better citizens, Marrow has found. People still prefer to live among their own kind, if they can live there in self-respect.

Marrow suggests creation of a Federal Bureau in Intergroup Relations—not to try to impose integration, but to conduct research on its problems and to provide a place where local communities can go for help if they need it.

He puts more reliance on community action by local leaders as the most satisfactory method for handling interracial and interreligious tensions.

"If a number of neighbors can pool their energies and talents," he has found, "their influence is most salutary. Neighborhoods can set up block committees that can assemble information no official inquiry could ever gather . . .

"Such self-directed social action is apt to lead formerly separate groups into meaningful contact with one another from the people who are drawn in—'dissenters' and 'special interest groups' particularly — the sooner old, rigid modes of thinking will be replaced with fresh ideas. The participants will be discovering their world as it is, instead of as they imagined it to be."

Commerce Clause Never Invoked About Customers

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — A legislative process that operates under duress is unprecedented in the halls of Congress. The Attorney General of the United States, Robert F. Kennedy, in presenting to the House Judiciary Committee his proposals for "civil rights" legislation, made several references to recent street demonstrations in various cities and "the violence which has sometimes accompanied them." He said these were a direct result of racial discrimination and that the resentments which had arisen due to racial discrimination, were "justified."

Nowhere in the statement was it explained why it required the stimulus of "demonstrations" to bring about consideration by Congress of any of the current legislative proposals.

The Attorney General in his statement discussed Constitutional doctrines and indicated some of the barriers that have hitherto caused hesitation in dealing with these same racial problems. In recommending to Congress now, for instance, the passage of a law that would forbid racial discrimination in restaurants, lunch counters, places of amusement, stores and hotels, Mr. Kennedy states that, because these facilities are open to the public, they are not at all "like a private home or a private club to which the owner invites only the guests he selects." This differentiation has never been sanctioned by the courts as a basis for interfering with the individual rights of the owner of a business.

The theory evolved by the Department of Justice, however, is that, because a business concern deals with the public, it may be subject to complete regulation or possibly extermination by the Federal Government. This alleged authority is derived from the clause of the Constitution which gives Congress the power to regulate interstate commerce, and Mr. Kennedy cited various laws passed by Congress in this field. Not a single one of these statutes, however, covers the selection of customers of a business. They deal with employes, or the practices of the employer in his relations with his own workers, or the practices of business owners in relation to other businesses or in shipping goods to other states or other countries.

The Application

Never in the history of the United States has the so-called commerce clause of the Constitution been invoked to regulate the customer relationship of a business owner and individual citizens.

The Attorney General conceded that the Fourteenth Amendment cannot be invoked for equal rights in this category and he correctly referred to the Supreme Court decision of 1883, which specifically held that the Federal Government could not on its own Constitutionally enact legislation in this class of cases because this is a power held by the several states.

Placing reliance, therefore, on the commerce clause of the Federal Constitution, the head of the Department of Justice, in the course of his statement to the house, said:

"I believe a proprietor might refuse to sell to a disorderly or improperly dressed customer, but no American should be discriminated against because of his color, race or religion."

But there is nothing in the court decisions based on the commerce clause of the Constitution which denies to any proprietor or a business the right to use his own judgement as to what constitutes a good customer relationship.

The sum and substance of the whole argument seems to be that an owner of a business may always use his own judgment as to whom he may sell his wares but apparently the moment he allows racial discrimination to enter the recesses of his mind, he can be penalized.

What has not been solved is the dilemma of the business owner who finds that lots of white people will not come to his establishment if he permits Negroes to crowd into his restaurant. He will then have to decide whether he will permit a few and yet be able to hold the bulk of his white customers. But under the terms of the proposed laws, numbers will not count. Any single act of discrimination would classify him as a violator of the law.

The Exceptions

Some of the democratic leaders who wish to support the proposals by the Attorney General are suggesting that local boarding houses and smaller restaurants might have to be excluded from the proposed law in order to get it passed this year. It is not explained just how Congress itself can discriminate as between different sizes of restaurants when the actual test for the legislation is supposed to be racial discrimination, no matter how or where it occurs. For what has the size of a business to do with the alleged evil involved?

The Attorney General in referring to the recent demonstrations said:

"The events that have occurred since the President's first message — in Birmingham, in Jackson, in nearby Cambridge, in Philadelphia and in many other cities — make it clear that the attack upon these problems must be accelerated."

But some members of Congress are beginning to ask why it was necessaary to be influenced by street demonstrations. Racial problems existed a year ago and two years ago, and the inference now is that only the carefully planned parades and "sitins" have brought the Administration into action.

Legislating under duress is a new experience for Congress. When the debate really begins, it will become evident that Congress does not relish the idea that the new "civil rights" bills are being considered primarily because coercive demonstrations have occurred or because threats are being circulated that, if Congress doesn't pass the laws, there will be outbreaks of violence.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

George C. Bode of 80 Moore Street, Kingston, had started to work as a young boy for S. D. Coykendall in the Cornell building. Years later he worked in his bank and later in the Kingston Trust Co., from where he retired. He took Monroe Burger's place, when Mr. Burger retired. Mr. Bode brought me an interesting item about S. D. Coykendall which was published in Frank Leslie's Weekly May 19, 1900.

There is a handsome picture of S. D. Coykendall with the article which reads in part: "A profound sensation in the coal-carrying trade has been created by the discovery that an unobstrusive financier, S. D. Coykendall, of Kingston, N. Y., is about to open a short and competitive route from the anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania to tide-water at Kingston on the Hudson River."

Item further reads: "Not long ago the Delaware and Hudson Canal Co. for economic reasons, abandoned its old canal, running from the anthracite coalfields to Kingston, about 800 miles. The abandoned tow-path and canal-bed were offered at the nominal price of $15,000 to the Erie and the Ontario and Western railroads, but they had no use for them at any price. Mr. Coykendall, shrewd and far-seeing, organized a company to build a railroad on the bed of the canal, and thus, at comparatively small expense, make a direct connection between the anthracite coal fields of eastern Pensylvania and the heart of the market in New York, some 100 miles from Kingston." Forces tried to stop the new road, but the board granted permission for the public needed cheaper coal.

The item further reads that Mr. Coykendall "is the life and soul of the city of Kingston. He practically has a monopoly of the coal-carrying business of the Hudson River, is largely interested in brick and cement manufacture. He is president of the Ulster and Delaware Railroad, the only line to the most attractive part of the Catskill Mountains. He is also president of the Cornell Steamboat Co., also of the Kingston City Railway, which has one of the finest trolley lines in this country. He is also president of the Hudson River Bluestone Co., the First National Bank of Rondout, the largest in the city, and of the Rondout Savings Bank. He is also the principal owner of one of the leading street-railway systems in Hartford, Conn., of one of the largest dry-goods establish-ments in Minneapolis, and of a boot and shoe concern in Nashville, Tenn."

The item further reads: "It is said that nearly a third of the merchants of Kingston received material aid from Mr. Coykendall when they started in business. His new railroad is expected to increase the population of Kingston by at least 10,000, and to make it rank next to Albany and Troy." This was written in Frank Leslie's Weekly on May 19, 1900.

George C. Bode also brought me a bill dated May 25, 1858, when Samuel D. Coykendall was a clerk at A. K. Chandler and Co. which sold dry goods and millinery, Garden and Ferry Streets (two doors from the bank). There is also an interoffice note from S. D. Coykendall to William B .Scott, dated Feb. 1878, on Thomas Cornell & Co., Rondcut, N. Y., stationery. This is hand-written and signed by S. D. Coykendall.

Two Are Killed In Cottage as Auto Rams It

CONESUS, N.Y. (AP)—An automobile allegedly driven by a 15-year-old boy crashed into a cottage early today at Conesus Lake, killing a woman and a girl on a camping trip and injuring three other girls in the cottage.

They were among 2 women chaperones and 15 girls in the cottage.

Sheriff James L. Emery of Livingston County said the car was driven by a 15-year-old who had stolen the vehicle.

Emery said the car left a lakeside road, traveled about six feet and smashed into a bedroom.

Mrs. Alice Karleck, 34, and Miss Memory Clark, 16, both of Rochester, were killed.

Injured were:

Mary Jane DePrez, 18, daughter of Deputy Police Chief Clarence DePrez of Rochester; Margie VanGelow, 16, and Carol Johnson, 18, all of Rochester.

They were treated at a Rochester hospital and discharged.

Some of the cottage occupants were sleeping and others were preparing to retire, the sheriff said.

The group had set up cots in two bedrooms and in the living room of the frame dwelling.

The sheriff said the boy, whose name was not disclosed, fled on foot after the accident. He was taken into custody when he appeared at the Conesus Lake Medical Center for treatment of injuries. He later was admitted to a Rochester hospital.

The cottage was damaged extensively.

List New Laws For Vets Benefits

Two laws recently enacted by Congress provide for additional compensation payment to certain veterans having service-incurred disability of deafness of both ears, with absence of air and bone conduction, and to those veterans having service-incurred disablity of complete loss of speech (organic aphonia), according to Charles Culver, state veteran counselor, New York State Division of Veterans Affairs, and John Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans Service Agency.

"Public Law 88-20 authorizes the payment of additional compensation in the amount of $47 per month to those veterans with service incurred deafness of both ears. Under the new law veterans in this category will be receiving $217 monthly.

"Public Law 88-22 authorizes the payment of additional compensation of $47 per month to veterans having the service incurred disability of complete loss of speech. Payments to veterans affected by this new law, will amount to $250 per month, Culver and Tyler stated. "The new legislation becomes effective July 1," Culver and Tyler concluded.

Complete information concerning all recently enacted legislation affecting veterans benefits, may be obtained by contacting Culver and Tyler at their office at 32 Main Street, Kingston, Monday through Friday, 9 to 5 p. m.

Will Push Merger

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Stuart T. Saunders, who will become the Pennsylvania Railroad's new board chairman Oct. 1, says he plans to try to speed up the proposed merger with the New York Central.

As head of the Pennsy, he also stands to head the merged line, if the union is allowed by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Saunders, a lawyer who turned railroadman to head the Norfolk & Western Railway, was named chairman of the Pennsy Wednesday at a directors meeting.

'Ochus Bochus'

Oddly enough, there once was a magician in Scandinavian mythology by the name of Ochus Bochus and the "hocus pocus" is just a variation of his name.

Dairy League To Build Modern Plant at Goshen

A modern milk processing and bottling plant — financed, owned and operated by dairy farmers to serve the Central Hudson, Southeastern, N. Y. and New Jersey area — will be built in Goshen according to an announcement today by Glenn Talbott, president of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association.

Located on a ten acre tract in the Goshen Industrial Park, the plant, designed by the League's own engineering staff, will be the most modern, highly automated milk processing operation in the East with a capacity of 250,000 quarts per day from a single 8 hour shift.

Plans call for the new plant to replace present League facilities in Poughkeepsie and Liberty and Newark, N. J. The Goshen location was picked because it is conveniently located both to receive bulk delivered milk from farms and to serve efficiently the growing urban and suburban communities in a wide area.

Talbott said that League customers in the Liberty, Poughkeepsie and Newark areas will be serviced from modern reloading depots by express refrigerated vans from the Goshen Plant. There will be, he said, no change in delivery schedules.

City's Nickname

Lord Cornwallis, who held the city for a time during the Revolutionary War, called Charlotte, N. C., a hornet's nest because the city's citizens were so active in anti-British activities. Today's slogan - nickname of "hornet's nest" continues to typify activities of the community.

Delegates Give Reports on 63rd Annual Meeting

The regular meeting of the Kingston Council No. 356 of the Commercial Travelers was held Tuesday night at the Elks Club.

Reports were made by the delegates who attended the 63rd Annual Convention of the New York Grand Council at Binghamton. Delegates were Dewey Logan, Charles Ryan, Robert Southwick, Samuel Feldman and Lester Legg Jr.

Edwin K. Kohl, grand counselor for 1962, was honored and presented with many beautiful gifts for his outstanding work during his term of office.

George Wahl of Binghamton was elected and installed grand counselor of the New York Grand Council for 1963.

Samuel Feldman of the Kingston Council received the jewel for past grand counselor for serving six years on the grand executive committee. Feldman also was presented with a gift by Dewey Logan from the Kingston Council for his outstanding work for the past years.

The Supreme Council Convention is now to be held at Pittsburgh, Pa. Feldman was elected by the Grand Council as a delegate to attend.

Logan, senior counselor appointed a committee to arrange for a program of social activities to be held during the winter months, including Kurt Butz chairman, Julius Kirschner, Claude Middaugh, Fred Lang, Charles Ryan, Louis Gerbon, David Gruberg and Lester Legg Jr. This committee will meet Tuesday night, July 16 to formulate plans. The meeting will be held at Elks Club.

During July and August there will be no regular monthly business meetings, Sept. 24 will be the next meeting.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Packing a picnic basket for the Fourth of July will be simple with the wide variety of economy eating candidates being featured at supermarkets this weekend.

For sandwiches, there are smokes hams, pork butts, cold turkey and roast beef.

An inviting take-along dish currently being featured is fried chicken.

For cooking at the scene, there are specials on a wide range of steaks, ground beef, spare ribs and frankfurters.

Turkeys are selling for about 39 cents a pound in many shops as dealers seek to clear out frozen stocks to make way for fall arrivals.

Beef prices have shown little sign of breaking out of the low pattern of recent weeks. Best buys are in round, chuck and rib roasts. One national chain offers bottom round at 69 cents a pound and top round at 75 in the New York area.

Broiler-fryer prices run about 39 cents a pound but are featured at lower levels many places. Some Southwestern shops are tagging them as low as 25 cents a pound this weekend.

Picnic vegetable offerings include low priced cabbage for cole slaw, fresh tomatoes, a variety of salad green, carrots, green onions and radishes.

A star fruit attraction is the peach, budget priced now thanks to a crop that's almost one-fifth larger than last years. Also economical are watermelon, cantaloupes, honeydews and bananas.

Sweet cherries are in short supply this season and prices show it.

Young Artist Has Display at Fair Street Bank

Young Francis Brown just took up painting a year ago.

Today he has a "one-man show" on display at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association main office at 235 Fair Street.

On display are three of Brown's works; the Pemaquid Lighthouse at Portland, Me., which is a favorite subject of countless painters, and a mountain scene, both on display in the bank's windows, and a lake and mountain scene on display in the lobby.

Brown, of 11 Broadway, started to paint when he was 19. He had been drawing and sketching since he was a young boy for pleasure and as a hobby. Finally, the painting "bug" bit him and he started to dabble in oils.

Self-tutored, Brown's only instruction in art was basic art in high school. Beyond that, whatever he has learned about painting he has picked up on his own. He has had one previous "show" in a local business place.

Bank officials, who opine, "We think he's doing very well for one on his own," urge the public to stop by and see the young artists's work, which will be on display for two weeks through Friday, July 5.

Brown will celebrate his 21st birthday on August 17.

Mt. Tremper

The next meeting of the consistory of the Shandaken Reformed Church of Mt. Tremper will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Every Thursday evening, July 11. The pastor, the Rev. Osterhoudt Phillips and Mrs. Phillips have returned home after a 3,300-mile trip to the General Synod at Pella, Iowa. In his sermon last Sunday he presented some of the highlights of the general synod, and stressed the vital need for Christian dedication today.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hirst has moved from the Vosa house to an apartment in Phoenicia.

Wally Pach spent the weekend with some friends in Lake George.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Townsend of Flushing, L. I. spent the weekend at their cottage.

The Rev. Osterhoudt Phillips presented the Sunday school children with their yearly pins at the picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gardner.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Phillips spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Albany.

Friday evening, the Pomona Grange gave a surprise stork shower for Mrs. Robert Allen Carle of Glenford. Mrs. Carle is secretary of the Grange and matron of the Juvenile Grange. The hall was prettily decorated with colored streamers. Many lovely gifts were received.

Coalition Upheld

JERUSALIEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—The 15-member coalition cabinet of Premier Levi Eshkol won Parliament's appproval Wednesday night. The vote, along coalition-opposition lines, was 64-43.

Three Are Hurt In Two Crashes

Three persons were injured in two separate area traffic accidents today and Wednesday.

Taken to Kingston Hospital after a one-car crash about 1:30 this morning on Hurley Mountain Road was John Brinnier, 41, of Box 392, Kingston RD 2. He suffered scalp cuts and abrasions to the left knee and arm. He was reported in fair condition.

Troopers Robert Houghtaling and Frank Bremer of the Lake Katrine substation, said Brinnier was driving a foreign sports car west on Hurley Mountain Road when the vehicle went out of control, left the road and struck an embankment.

Ann Conlon, 7, of 2 Romann Lane, West Islip, also was taken to Kingston Hospital after a one-car mishap Wednesday on Route 212 near Cooper's Lake.

She was reported in fair condition after treatment for head and face abrasions. She was undergoing X-rays for possible fractures and concussion.

The child was a passenger in a car driven by William Strauss, 18, of the West Islip address.

Another passenger in the vehicle, Janice Heikkilre, 19, of 114 Sequins Road West, West Islip, suffered contusions of the hands and left leg. She was not hospitalized. Strauss was shaken up but escaped injury. The injured were treated at the scene by Dr. Norman N. Berg of Woodstock.

Woodstock Town Constable Paul Senecal said that Strauss was driving east on Route 212 when the vehicle failed to negotiate a turn, crossed over to the opposite lane, went between a tree and telephone pole and overturned end-over-end into a ditch. The Lake Hill Fire Department was called to the scene to stand by for possible gasoline leakage while the car was pulled out of the ditch.

Southern Mexico's early Mayas regarded cross-eyes as a mark of beauty.

A Target: Find 'Thresher'

Seneca Lake Sonar Testings Set Pace in Sub-Detection

By CHRIS KERTESZ
The Geneva Times
Written For The Associated Press

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP)—A floating laboratory skippered by a former treasure-hunter is testing sounding devices designed to expedite spotting sunken vessels, such as the nuclear submarine Thresher.

The work on underwater detection systems aboard the 165-foot barge Darius in Seneca Lake began over a year ago, before the Thresher went down 8,400 feet in the Atlantic April 10.

The main purpose of the four-man crew aboard the refitted oil barge is to test and evaluate new underwater mapping systems. But when work began, Harry B. Miller, manager of the Advanced Deveopment Electro - accoustics Laboratory of General Dynamics-Electronics, said the nation's security was directly concerned.

"We'd like to be able to detect enemy submarines hundreds of miles away with a high degree or reliability," he said. "We'd like to be able to build, for example, a sort of wet DEW (Distant Early Warning), an underwater system that could warn of approaching subs just as the DEW radar line to the north can warn of approaching bombers or missiles."

Miller said the Navy had asked General Dynamics and a few other sonar research firms to consult on the problem of finding the broken Thresher and its 129 men 220 miles east of Boston.

That's all he would say about the Thresher. But Frank Higgins, Darius skipper who formerly sought treasure on the ocean floor off Mexico, put it this way:

"Finding the Thresher wouldn't be like finding a needle in the haystack. It would be like finding the haystack."

The barge's name is formed of the first letters of the project—Development and Research in Underwater Sound. The Persian King Darius reopened the Barge Canal between the Nile and the Red Sea in the year 500 B.C.

Using Higer Frequencies

Seneca Lake was chosen for the modern-day Darius' work because of the lake's depth—almost 700 feet in some areas. Deep water is essential in testing modern sonar systems.

Even Seneca Lake may prove too shallow soon for such testing.

Miller said the Navy, for which the Seneca Lake Underwater Test and Evaluation Center (SUTEC) does considerable work, is using higher and higher frequencies in this activity and a depth of several wave lengths is required for effective testing.

The center's efforts off Dresden on Seneca's west shore have concentrated for the last year on testing one component of the sonar system — the transducer, which is comparable to the antenna of a radio transmitter. The 20-ton transducer converts electrical power into sound, which pulses through the water.

MODEL, TOO — Wife and mother, Kathy Grant, Mrs. Bing Crosby to most persons, shows she can model, too. Here she wears a yellow satin evening coat with a column of buttons in the princess line in a New York fashion show.

Rosendale Town Board

The regular monthly meeting of the Rosendale Town Board will be held on Monday, July 1 at 8 p. m. at the Town Clerk's Office, Main Street, Rosendale.

The Chicago fire of 1871 laid waste to 3½ square miles and caused $200 million in property damage.

WHERE THE FALLEN REST—Thirty-nine per cent of American soldiers killed in foreign battle remain overseas (others were returned by request of next of kin). The American Battle Monuments Commission is responsible for the construction and maintenance of military cemeteries and memorials on foreign soil. There is a total of 22 such permanent cemeteries, replacing the hundreds of temporary sites established during World War II. On map above, eight World War I cemeteries are named in white boxes; 13 World War II cemeteries in black boxes. (First name is name of the cemetery, following names its location.) Not indicated is the cemetery at Manila, Philippines, largest of all. In addition to these cemeteries, the commission has erected memorials at New York and San Francisco to honor those who died in U.S. coastal waters during World War II.

Joseph Benjamin Installed Head Of Rotary Club

Joseph J. Benjamin assumed the presidency of the Kingston Rotary Club Wednesday. Sam Scudder, past district governor of Rotary International, was the installing officer.

A tentative outline of the program for the coming year and chairmen of the various committees were announced by the new president.

Retiring President Melvin Mones reviewed the civic program of the local service club and the community projects sponsored and financially supported during the past fiscal year.

Announcement was made that the annual chicken barbecue sponsored by Kingston Rotary will be held at the Beatty Farm Saturday, Aug. 17. Money realized from this annual affair is devoted to local services.

Dr. James Watt, resident surgeon of the Northern Dutchess Hospital at Rhinebeck, the guest speaker, discussed the deleterious effects of excessive cigarette smoking.

In his observations, he said cigarette smoking increases susceptibility of lung cancer, raises the incidence of emphysema, an ailment characterized by swelling and rupturing of the air sacs in the lung, and is a causative factor in other ailments.

The greatest number of lung cancer deaths were in men who were heavy smokers.

Some forms of advertising to entice teen-agers are immoral.

Cigarette smoking doesn't help the health or mind. Research in several universities have shown students who smoke are in the lower third of their class and not in the upper echelon. Physical and athletic directors do not permit smoking.

Investigation Is To Be Made of Downtown Fire

A fire of suspected incendiary origin damaged an unoccupied building at 142 Broadway owned by Nicholas Schwartz, of 42 Abeel Street, this morning.

The blaze originated in a box spring and mattress in a rear, second-floor room, and burned through flooring and an area of ceiling on the first floor. The building was heavily charged with smoke when firemen arrived. A police investigation was requested.

Units from Central and Cornell stations, the Wicks, Union and Rapid companies answered an alarm from Box 3111, Broadway and McEntee Street, at 6:25 a. m. with Chief James M. Brett and Deputy Chief Julius Buchholtz in charge.

A call at 8:26 p. m. Wednesday was for a fire in the car of Officer Floyd Krom, of 156 Fairview Avenue near 330 Linderman Avenue. It damaged the motor, wiring and a fender.

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Last spring a roaring fire destroyed a quarter of a block of business establishments in downtown Des Moines.

Russell Howell, manager of one of the stores, says he had a full line of garden seeds on hand at the time of the fire.

Pius XII Gave Pope Paul Broad Outlook on World

EDITOR'S NOTE — Trained in administration and given vital pastoral duties by Pope Pius XII, the new Pontiff has pledged himself to follow the path of progress charted by Pope John XXIII. In this second of a series, AP Correspondent James M. Long, who has known Paul VI for years, reports on the Pontiff's work as a Vatican diplomat and pastor.

By JAMES M. LONG

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has pledged himself to follow the path of progress pioneered by Pope John XXIII.

He embarks with administrative experience and important pastoral preparation given him by the more conservative Pope Pius XII.

Pius became Pope after a career in the Vatican Secretariat of State. But Pius had understood the value of the rich human contacts and deep personal satisfactions of the pastoral experience which he never had.

Pius first gave Giovanni Battista Montini a broad outlook on the world from the Vatican's Office of Secretary of State and then sent him to Milan as archbishop in Italy's industrial Red Belt.

It cost Pope Pius his right hand man in church administration. But it gave Archbishop Montini eight rich years of pastoral experience that rounded out his preparation to become Pope Paul VI.

There were paradoxes in his career. One was that he declined the red hat of cardinal just 10 years before he was elected Pope.

But there was the underlying consistency of loyalty, in his devoted service to Pope Pius, and his dedicated support of Pope John's program of progress.

Like Coming Home

When he moved into the papal apartment of the Apostolic Palace after election last Friday it was almost like coming home. Pope Paul's office and home had been in the Vatican Secretariat of State since 1924, soon after his return from his first diplomatic assignment as secretary to the apostolic nuncio in Warsaw. He was 27.

His rise was steady.

In 1937 he became substitute secretary of state. Pope Pius XII promoted him in 1952 to pro-secretary of state, in which he was the Pope's right-hand man in church administration.

In the consistory of 1953, Pope Pius announced he had asked Archbishop Montini to accept the red hat of cardinal. The Pope said Montini refused "from his high sense of duty," preferring to serve the Pope in his office in the Secretariat of State.

It was a sacrifice of princehood rarely disclosed in the modern history of the Roman Catholic Church. Pius obviously was deeply moved. A year later, in 1954, the Pope sent Montini north to Milan, as archbishop of the most important diocese in Italy outside Rome.

History may record it as an act of destiny. At the time Archbishop Montini wept and said sorrowfully "Today I have become an orphan."

It was a token of his love of Pope Pius, as for a father.

Yet on Epiphany Day of January 1955, when the new archbishop of Milan drove into his diocese, for for the first time a pastor, he had dedicated himself to his new duties.

He stepped from his car in sleet and rain. And before the Milanese who braved the bitter weather to greet him, he knelt and kissed the ground of his native North Italy.

He rose and faced them — the people of the bustling, prospering, industrial and Communist-leaning area.

He had come to meet his challenge there in the Red Belt. His first words were those of prayer, of affection of hope.

"Pray," he urged them.

"Pray as I pray—that the vibration of machinery shall become as music, and the fumes of the smokestacks shall become as incense."

Then, with the intensity with which he always plunged into new endeavor, he went to work to make it so.

He rounded up nearly 1,000 priests from all over Italy. He sent them out to the industrial suburbs of the city to carry the message of the church into the strongholds of communism.

And he went out there himself. One of his first visits was to Milan's San Vittore jail to talk with the prisoners, just as Pope John some years later visited Rome's Regina Coeli prison soon after his coronation.

The Archbishop of Milan put on a miner's helmet and went down into the pits. He went to the factories. And he went out to face the Communists in their own Red fortress, the suburb of Sesto San Giovanni, called Italy's Little Stalingad.

He did not stop at visiting the workers in their plants and at their assembly lines. He went to their wives and their children in humble homes.

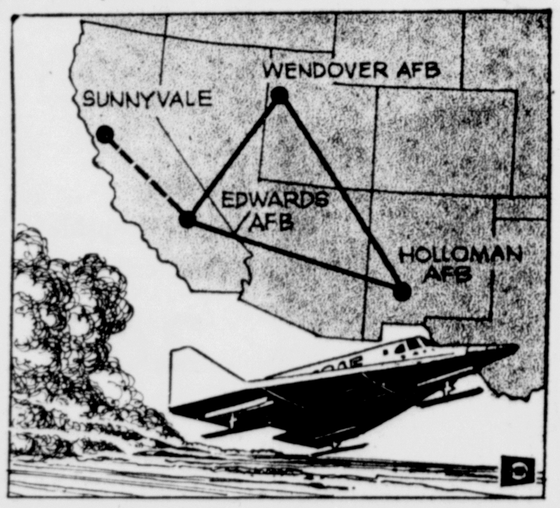

He took along a notebook. He was accompanied by two priests. He asked questions and made no promises. But a few days after his visit, poor families found that a doctor showed up for their sick baby. Or a call came saying a job had been found for the unemployed husband.

When he came back to Rome he had eight years of the close personal pastoral relations that a Pope would need in the new age of man.

JPs Stay Slender

Capitol News In Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ONE NAY: By a 410-1 vote, the House has sent to the Senate the defense appropriations bill which one Democratic leader called "a token of our determination."

At $47,082,009,000, some $2 billion less than the administration requested for the next fiscal year, the measure is the nation's second largest peacetime military appropriation. The biggest: this year's $48,136,247,000 program.

Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, D-Mo., told newsmen he voted against it because "we haven't got the money."

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has protested the trimming of the military budget, saying the cuts would cost the military 60,000 men as well as tactical air support.

There were published reports the day before the House voted that the Pentagon was planning to withdraw 60,000 troops from Europe.

Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of a defense appropriations subcommittee, said he checked the reports with the Defense Department and "found no confirmation whatever."

DEPRESSED AREAS: President Kennedy has won a 65-30 Senate victory on a bill to provide an additional $455 million for his depressed areas program. The program is designed to create jobs in areas of high and continuing unemployment by providing loans or grants to attract new industries.

Administration leaders said they were confident they could nail down Wednesday's triumph by getting the House to reverse itself and go along with the legislation.

Two weeks ago the House rejected the bill 209-204.

Senate passage came with votes of 53 Democrats and 12 Republicans. The opponents were 21 Republicans and Nine Democrats.

The house is expected to consider the Senate version of the bill after the Fourth of July slowdown.

SOVIET, U.S. SCIENTISTS BUDDY-BUDDY — Corks popped and wine flowed as Russian scientists exuded hospitality for high American officials in the Soviet Union to sign a two-year agreement on using atomic energy for peaceful purposes. At one affair, left, the first Americans to be admitted to Russia's Technical Institute at Obninsk, 60 miles south of Moscow, where the Soviet's nuclear power plants are developed, are being toasted by the institute's Director Rodionov, standing. Stamps Honor Refugees

Taipei, Formosa (AP — The Nationalist Chinese government put two special stamps on sale today in observance of the first anniversary of the arrival of refugees from Red China after the exodus to Hong Kong last year.

The stamps used photographs taken by P. C. Lee of the Hong Kong Tiger Standard which were distributed to newspapers around the world by the Associated Press.

One stamp depicts a girl who burst into tears when told she had to return to Communist China. The other shows a refugee carrying his son and dragging his tearful wife after they were forced to turn back.

Free Water From Reds

HONG KONG (AP)—The first shipload of water sent from Communist China to drought-stricken Hong Kong started flowing into the British colony's mains today. The Liberian tanker Ianthe brought 3.2 million gallons Wednesday night from Red China's Pearl River. Red China is furnishing the water free.

Rebels to Talk

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Burma's Communist rebels, who have waged guerrilla war against successive governments for 15 years, have come out of the jungle for peace talks with Gen. Ne Win's military government.

Ne Win this month invited all insurgents to peace parleys. He promised them safe conduct.

The Communists went underground soon after Burma won independence from the British in 1948. Their strength at their peak in 1949 was estimated at 10,000. They now number about 2,500.

Sentiment Abounds

Judy, Mickey Reunited For Sept. 29 TV Show

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Show biz folk, who dearly love sentiment, got a feast of it this week. The occasion: reunion of Judy Garland and Mickey Rooney onstage after 18 years.

Revelation to Watch

The event took place at Television City, where Garland was taping the first of 32 variety shows she will do for CBS next season. The network's luminaries turned out gleefully for the show—Lucille Ball, Dick Van Dyke, Jack Benny, plus movie types like Natalie Wood, Van Heflin, etc.

Sentiment aside, it was a revelation to watch the pair working together again. You're not supposed to know what the show contains, since it won't air until Sept. 29. But I can report that Garland and Rooney show why they have been stars for 30-odd years (he is 42, she 41) yet don't rely on old-timey gimmicks.

Afterward, the Mick allowed himself an affectionate glance at their mutual pasts.

"I remember the day I met this girl" he reflected. "Frances Gumm—How could I forget a name like that?

"We were both going to a professional school in Hollywood and we were about 6. I went home that day and told my mom, 'I meet a girl today named Frances Gumm; she was kinda sticky.' The joke didn't go over so well then, either."

Started in 1938

Their first movie together was "Love Finds Andy Hardy" (1938) and they followed with "Andy Hardy Meets a Debutante" (1940). They also made a flock of musicals together—"Babes in Arms," "Babes on Broadway," "Strike Up the Band," "Girl Crazy" and their last screen pairing, a number in "Ziegfeld Follies" (1945).

"I love this girl," said Mickey earnestly. "I've always loved her. Not with a romantic love, but with a love that is more than like. We clung to each other like two in a family, because neither of us had family. We were always working."

Garland and Rooney went their separate ways, through triumphs and travails—and eight marriages.

Graduate Class At Local School

Forty-one pupils were presented with diplomas at the annual Woodstock Elementary school graduation exercises on Friday. A large number of parents and guests witnessed the ceremony in the school auditorium.

Miss Deborah Allen was the master of ceremonies and introduced each portion of the program. Fred Fogg, 6th grade graduate, led the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag and Miss Judith Longyear of the Class of '63 welcomed the audience to the assembly.

The elementary chorus directed by Mrs. Katy Stowe, Music Supervisor, sang America the Beautiful, The Lord's Prayer, Peace and I Believe. Telephone calls still pouring into the school office attest to the excellence of the singing of the chorus.

In the commencement address, Superintendent of Schools Dr. George R. Sullivan told the graduates this was one of the milestones on the road of education. He said that all schools are not alike but are made different by people.

About School Image

Dr. Sullivan said that it was the desire of parents to make a school good but if a school had academic standing it was because of the work which the pupils in the school did. He pointed out that a school's image is what its students make it and he asked the graduates to consider what they can do to better their school and to try and leave it a better place than when they entered it. He extended his congratulations to all who were graduating.

Following Dr Sullivan's address, Principal Walter S. Van Wagenen presented diplomas to the graduating class.

The class included: Donald Adams, Deborah Allen, Timothy Barcone, David Berryann, Bruce Biesele, Michael Casey, Alan Cocks, Carol Coddington, Antonio Criscimagna, Catherine Fisher, Fred Fogg, Kathryn Hancock, Thomas Heinlein, Clayton Horsey, Keith Kenneally, Patricia Krum, Judith Longyear, Susan Moseman, Kathleen Mower, Peter Mulligan, Andrea Neher, Kristine Peterson, Eric Pope, Darcy Raley.

Also, Wanda Reynolds, Wendy Schreiner, Alan Shultis, Katherine Shultis, Kent Smith, Jean St. John, George Sullivan, Ann-Marie Swenson, Lawrence Todd, Irene Treutler, Kathleen Tucker, Daniel Waters, Garry Wilber, Rowena Wilber, Donna Winans, Bonnie Wing.

Last Sunday, Mrs. Jean Wolf of Wittenberg, was received into the membership of the church.

Beginning this Sunday, June 30, a nursery for children unable to participate in the worship service will be available in the parsonage. Parents may leave their children a few minutes prior to the service and pick them up following the service.

Digest's Cover Painted by Pike

The cover for the July issue of Reader's Digest was painted by John Pike, Woodstock's prominent artist, who is outstanding in the water color field.

The scene depicts an old fashioned Fourth of July with fireworks bursting in the night sky and kids and grownups silhouetted on a hill.

Pike was a combat artist in Korea and his paintings from this service are the property of the War Department, Washington. He has been commissioned by the United States Air Force to do paintings in various parts of the world, and these hang in the Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs.

He is the recipient of a number of prizes, among them the National Academy and American Watercolor Society, and is represented in many public and private collections.

European Invention

To Europe belongs credit for invention of the automobile. Before the pioneer cars of America were on the streets, Europeans were driving many cars propelled by steam, electricity and gasoline.

South American Cat

The South American margay closely resembles the ocelot, or tiger cat, but is more slender and has a longer tail. Almost nothing is known about the habits of this feline creature.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Sometime ago, a reader brought me parts of a Kingston Freeman dated January 25, 1900. I ran across some small items such as: Julius Oppenheimer, of Oppenheimer Brother, is attending the cycle show in New York. William Weston and George B. Styles Sr. are on a hunting trip in North Carolina. Alderman Richard Lenehan of The Strand and Patrick Ronan of Wall Street each received by express last night, a twenty pound raccoon from a friend who is touring the south. Noah Wolven of 323 Wall Street was having a muslin underwear sale with corset covers selling from 19 to 75 cents. Petticoats from 50 to $1.48.

Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar cough syrup was popular at the time, and sold at the following drug stores: C. C. TenBroeck; W. F. Dedrick; Connelly Drug Co. Cooper and Hardenburgh; Charles L. McBride, and Eltinge and Schoonmaker.

Mrs. Pauline Dixon of Meadow Street brought me a postal card of the olden days, when pictures of famous people and sayings were popular on one cent cards, and could be sent for a penny. This one has a colored picture of Daniel Webster, and his saying: "Men hang out their signs indicative of their respective trades. Shoemakers hang out a gigantic shoe; jewelers, a monster watch; even the dentist hangs out a gold tooth; but up in the Franconia Mountains God Almighty has hung out a sign that in New England, He makes men." There is a picture of profile of "Old Man of the Mountains" cut out of stone by nature. Little by little signs of the trade have disappeared with the wooden Indian, so it seems. I understand it was mostly for those who could not read nor write, and by seeing a picture or figure they would know the type of a store or concern it was.

WONG INFLUENCE — The face of old Hong Kong is changed. A girl—Nancy Kwan —and a movie—"The World of Suzie Wong"—are responsible. The "Wong influence" has its greatest impact on the younger set which imitates Suzie in dress (higher slits in skirts) and manners, a la the movie.

The other afternoon I attended a box lunch at the Ulster County Historical Society Museum, the Bevier House at Marbletown. It was a warm June day, with the meadows and roadsides bright green from recent rains and old-fashioned flowers still in existence as they were, no doubt in Colonial days. Wild strawberries, and even horseshoes are still part of the countryside and the many old stone houses, several hundred years old, still stand with dignity. I was sorry I did not stay until late evening to hear Kenneth Hasbrouck's talk on records and old documents of Ulster County which I am glad was covered in the June 11, 1963 issue on page 17.

John Paul Remensynder, president and Captain Andrew S. Hickey, and Miss Katherine Millard took me around this 18th century old stone house, which Mr. Remensynder has been authentically restoring using tremendous beams from another old stone house recently taken down. It would be impossible to accurately describe the items and work done in the old kitchen, the scullery rooms, the large fireplace with all the equipment really used-looking. Before the folks sat down to a box lunch, I had chances to speak to Mrs. Howard A. Lewis, Miss Emily Hoysradt, Mrs. Jack Clair, her sister and many others. Mr. and Mrs. Elliott (Margaret Hasbrouck) showed me pictures of the pyramids, camels where they had recently visited. I did not stay for the shortcake and coffee, but I could not resist Miss Florence Cordts' delicious fried chicken. From June 1 to Sept. 30, the museum is open to the public from 1 to 5 p. m. except Monday and Tuesday of each week, with Miss Katherine Millard, formerly of the Old Senate House in Kingston, as custodian.

Fifteen Brownies Fly-up at Troop 4 Court of Awards

Girl Scout Troop No. 4 held a Court of Awards at St. James Methodist Church recently. Fifteen Brownies from Troop No. 59 flew up and were presented by their leader, Mrs. Kenneth Dittus to Mrs. Paul E. Jones, assistant leader of the troop, who welcomed them into Troop 4.

Many parents of the Scouts and Brownies attended the Court of Awards.

The meeting opened with a flag ceremony. Flag bearers were Chris Lake and Candy Shultis. Brenda Hof and Nancy Hummer acted as color guards.

Demonstrations of the Girl Scout Laws in a candlelighting service included child care and first aid performed by Karen Dickerson, Janis Helmer, Chris Lake and Chris Rosebrook.

Girls awarded Second Class rank were Elissa Armater, Eileen Mills, Linda Johnson, Mary Gemmel, Candy Shultis. Girls awarded badges for folk dancing, first aid, cook, homemaker, rambler, reader, campcraft, pottery, pen pal and mammal were Kareen Dickerson, Linda Johnson, Janis Helmer, Chris Lake and Chris Rosebrook.

Two musical selections for flute and piano were by Janis Helmer, pianist, and Candy Shultis, flutist, members of the troop.

Following the closing ceremony, refreshments, baked and prepared by the Girl Scouts, were served.

Exhibits of the Troop's Craft work were on display.

Starved Weevils

For the first time, entomologists have extracted the substance which makes cotton appetizing to boll weevils. This substance, called, "arrestant," if it could be synthesized, could be used to treat other plants and induce boll weevils to lay their eggs where the newly-hatched larvae would starve, according to the Britannica Book of the Year.

A new and different LUCITE® for outside your home

After 25 years' experience in acrylic chemistry . . . after developing LUCITE® Wall Paint that offers beauty without bother inside your home . . . Du Pont now brings the spectacular benefits of LUCITE to the outside.

Now you can have incredible durability without the temporary surface shine of oil-base paints. The beautiful low-lustre surface of LUCITE House Paint forms a tough, durable shield that is just naturally more resistant to cracking, chalking, dirt, and fading than oil-base paint. And when you see how easy it is to use, you'll never go back to "hard work" paint.

Flows on easily, effortlessly. New LUCITE House Paint is so easy to use, it just flows from your brush with no tiring brush drag. And it dries so fast you can apply second coat, if desired, after only one hour.

Covers almost any building material. Use LUCITE on wood, brick, masonry, stucco, cement block. Needs no primer, if old paint is in good shape. Goes on over damp surfaces, too. No delay from dew or showers.

Quick and easy cleanup. Clean brushes, rollers with soap and water. LUCITE can be thinned with water, too. No mess or bother with special solvents. Fresh paint spots wipe up with a damp sponge.

Protects like a plastic shield. The beauty of LUCITE lasts for years. Durable low-sheen finish acts like a tough, protective shield against extremes of weather. Dirt won't stick to smooth, hard LUCITE surface.

For special blistering problems that oil-base paint can't solve, try Du Pont LUCITE. For badly blistered portion of your home, remove old paint down to bare wood, apply Du Pont 49 Primer, then new LUCITE.

Father Indicted In Death of His Infant Daughter

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Charles F. Gruschow, 19, was under a first-degree murder indictment today in the death of his baby daughter. Police quoted him as saying he hit the infant because she cried.

Bonnie Jo Gruschow, 13 months, weighed only 15 pounds when she died June 7, a medical examiner said. He said death was due to a brain injury "caused by a violent impact on the head."

The baby, said Dr. Robert M. Greendyke, had an untreated thigh fracture suffered four months earlier and several bruises.

Gruschow was indicted Wednesday by a Monroe County grand jury. He and his wife, Bonnie, had been charged with first-degree manslaughter after the girl's death. The murder charge was returned against Gruschow in an open indictment.

Mrs. Gruschow, who is expecting their second child, was awaiting grand jury action. She was free in $1,500 bail.

No date was set for Gruschow's trial.

Dairyman Says Farmers Must Get Control of Supply

BINGHAMTON, N. Y. (AP)—A Dairy official contends that farmers must gain control of milk supply lines between farms and handling plants as a protective measure.

Robert C. Forsythe, manager of the Metropolitan Cooperative Milk Producers Bargaining Agency, says farmer control of the supply lines would allow dairymen to "demand the true value of their products."

At present, Forsythe said Wednesday, a bulk shipper who collects and delivers farmers' milk to handling plants virtually "owns the producer," who may have no other outlet.

He said more and more farmers are switching from can to bulk handling of milk.

Forsythe commented in a speech at the 53rd annual meeting of the Association of New York State Teachers of Agriculture.

Farmers also could improve Forsythe said, by entering into joint ownership of the cooperative manufacturing facilities in the market. Most such plants now are owned by three cooperative federations, including Metropolitan. A fourth organization is opposed to cooperative ownership of the manufacturing plants.

Conservative Will Seek Re-election To School Board

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—David H. Jaquith, a Conservative Party leader, and that party's candidate for governor in 1962, will run on the Republican ticket next November in a bid for reelection to the Syracuse School Board.

Announcement of the GOP endorsement of Jaquith for the school board came Wednesday from State Sen. John Hughes, chairman of the Onondaga County Republican organization.

Jaquith was in the vanguard of a defection from the GOP by a number of conservative Republicans last year that led to formation of the Conservative Party.

Jaquith was elected to the school board four years ago as a Republican. His term expires this year. Four school board posts are to be filled this year.

Hughes is regarded as a conservative Republican.

Tim Conway Has Success After 3 Steve Allen Shows

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Hard-luck stories of poor timing and bad breaks are a common television commodity, but there very definitely is another side to the picture. Witness the success story of Tim Conway of "McHale's Navy."

Tim became a member of the comedy show's cast—playing well-intentioned, bumbling Ensign Charles Parker — after exactly three appearances on the Steve Allen Show, his first national exposure.

Before that he directed an old-movie program on a Cleveland, Ohio, station. Conway began doing some on-camera comedy sketches to fill in the minutes between the end of the film and the time he was alloted.

One day, Rose Marie of "The Dick Van Dyke Show" came to the studio to make some promotion tapes, caught Tim's monkey shines and announced: "You ought to be on the Steve Allen Show."

"I said thank you very much and forgot it," related the round-faced young comedian, "but two months later I was on the Steve Allen Show."

Rose Marie was acting as his manager—as she still does.

Conway accepts the whole thing rather calmly.

"I'd always know that I'd be a success," he said. "I didn't know how, but I knew it would be before I was 30."

He still has six months before his deadline.

Recommended tonight: Bob Hope Moscow Show, NBC, 10-11 EDT—Rerun of a program made by Hope and troupe during a 1958 visit to the Soviet capital.

Congressmen Told Subsidies Will Hurt Dairy Status

ITHACA—"The state and national dairy supply-demand picture has brightened and talk of quotas and subsidies will only aggravate the improving dairy situation," the president of New York Farm Bureau, William E. Bensley, said in a telegram to New York Congressmen today.

The wire to congressmen came on the eve of a meeting of the congressional delegates called by Congressman Stratton in an attempt to get support for dairy legislation.

The Farm Bureau president and Erie County dairyman said, "It appears the Administration is trying hard to get a dairy bill before Congress this year."

Although unable to attend the meeting, Bensley again made the Farm Bureau position clear in his telegram as follows:

"New York Farm Bureau opposes direct subsidy payments and quotas in any form for the dairy industry. Adoption of such programs could be a first step toward rigid production controls and federal domination of the dairy industry. We believe present laws providing for dairy price support program and milk marketing order program are adequate to permit continued improvement in the dairy supply-demand situation. Talk of subsidies and quotas will only aggravate this improving state and national supply-demand situation.

"The dairy picture has turned brighter. Nationally, 1963 production has remained below previous year for five straight months. Consumption is more favorable and government price support purchases are far below those of a year ago. New York Federal Order No. 2 production increases are tapering off. Consumption is strengthening. May blend price to farmers is above a year ago.

"In Rochester and Niagara Frontier State Order Markets production is below a year ago levels. Consumption is up. Blend prices are above a year ago.

"The heavy rate of culling cows and dairy heifers from New York herds indicates production will further stabilize and decrease in the foreseeable future."

Three Such Tries Failed in Past

Doubts Capital March To Prod Solons on CR

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Would a massive Negro demonstration in Washington this summer persuade Congress — if it showed signs of balking — to pass President Kennedy's civil rights program?

Not in a hurry and not this year, if history is an example.

Three times in the past 70 years demonstrators have come to Washington to press for their ideas. Coxey's Army, suffragettes, and the Bonus Army all tried it. Each time it took Congress years to do what the demonstrators wanted.

Warn Against Pressure

Last Saturday Kennedy met with Negro and white civil rights leaders. He warned them against undue pressure on Congress. So did Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

But the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. and others said that if there is a filibuster by Southern Democrats against a civil rights bill Negroes will have a "non-violent demonstration in Washington." If so, many thousands may be involved.

It took Congress about 40 years to come around to the idea proposed in the 1894 depression by Jacob S. Coxey, a successful businessman of Massillon, Ohio.

He wanted Congress to do something about unemployment and suggested a big road-building program to create jobs. He rallied about 2,000 jobless men from around the country and led this "Coxey's Army" into Washington.

When he marched up to the Capitol on May 1, 1894, he was arrested for holding a meeting without a permit and damaging the grass.

All in Due Time

It wasn't until the next great depression—in the 1930s — that Congress got around to creating the kind of make-jobs program Coxey had plugged for.

Next came the suffragettes.

As early as the 17th century a few women in this country had called for equal treatment. But it wasn't until the 20th century that the Constitution gave them a national guarantee of the right to vote.

The real agitation by women for equal rights—and eventually the vote—got under way in the middle of the 19th century. As early as 1866 they petitioned Congress for voting rights. States began to listen.

By the time President Wilson moved into the White House in 1913 the suffragettes had gained strength, benefits and sympathy. They wanted a constitutional amendment to consummate a reform which by then had long been under way in the states.

In 1917 they picketed the White House to urge Wilson to get behind an amendment in Congress. They were arrested and jailed and some went on a hunger strike.

Wilson pushed for them. And on June 4, 1919, Congress approved a constitutional amendment—the 19th—which then went to the states for approval and was adopted Aug. 26, 1920.

The next try—by the Bonus Army—ended in disaster. The army of jobless World War I veterans was run out of Washington in the summer of 1932.

About 18,000 to 20,000 of them came here from all over the country, some with their families. They lived in empty government buildings or built shacks on the outskirts of the city.

These men wanted Congress to vote them a cash bonus. They stayed around for about two months and Congress quit without heeding them.

The government got sick of them. Two of them were shot to death in a brawl with police who tried to drive them out of a building on government land. Then the city commissioners asked President Hoover to use troops to drive them out.

Four troops of cavalry, four companies of infantry, a mounted machinegun squad and six tanks went to work. They had the help of 300 policemen, and some secret service and treasury men.

The troops burned the hovels the veterans slept in. The veterans departed. Later, under President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Congress voted the veterans a bonus.

Hurley's Sparky Group Has Final Meet of Season

Line officers for the 1963-64 season were named by Hurley's Sparky Fire Department at its final spring meeting Saturday at Hurley Fire Hall.

Selected on the basis of fire safety posters were Chief Carolyn O'Dell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth O'Dell; First Assistant Chief Jamil Vosacek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vosacek; Second Assistant Chief Nancy Kline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Kline Jr.; Captain Russell Burgess Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Burgess Sr.; Second Lt. Douglas Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pearson; and Second Lt. Kathy Manley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Manley.

Awards were presented by Sparky Chairman Richard P. Ruth Jr., assisted by Company First Lt. Earle McLane. Chairman Ruth praised all members of the Sparky Fire Department for their participation and continued interest in the program, citing the fact that Sparky firemen had, on one recent occasion, turned in a fire alarm in time to prevent a serious catastrophe. He also commented on the reduced number of fires in Hurley Fire District No. 1, indicating an increased awareness on the part of the children and parents.

Chairman Ruth also announced that the 1963-64 SFD program would resume with the first meeting in September. The continued program will be open to all children in grades 1 to 4, who reside in the district. With a previous enrollment of 114 children in grades 1 to 3, it is anticipated that the expansion will result in an increase of activity and interest in this fire prevention and fire safety program originated by the National Fire Protection Association. Complete details and schedule will be published during mid-August.

Horatio Alger, America's most popular author during the last 30 years of the 19th century, wrote more than a hundred books which have sold an estimated thirty million copies. After a career including newspaper work, Harvard Divinity School, a trip to Paris and several unsuccessful attempts to enlist in the union Army, Alger became associated with the New York Newsboys' Lodging House, a home for foundlings and runaways. Then he began to write his rags-to-riches stories which have made the Horatio Alger hero an American byword.

Orange, Rockland Rate Changes Listed

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Public Service Commission today authorized Orange and Rockland Utilities Inc. to raise some rates a total of $182,000 a year and cut costs to larger consumers by $305,400 for a net decrease of $123,200.

The decrease will apply primarily to customers using gas for heating.

These overall changes in rates will be made, effective July 1:

Nyack district, down $33,200 a year; Middletown district, down $144,300; Port Jervis, down $29,200 a year; Spring Valley, up $83,500.

In other actions on gas service, the PSC approved plans for additional refunds utilities in the state are making to consumers.

The companies are passing on refunds they received from their wholesalers. The Federal Power Commission held that the wholesalers had overcharged the utilities, which had passed the higher costs on to their customers.

These were the latest refunds approved:

Iroquois Gas Co. of Western New York, $451,253.

Fillmore Gas Co., Allegany County, $1,438.

New York State Gas & Electric (Ithaca Division), $55,375.

Producers Gas Co., Olean-Allegany-Cattaraugus counties, $4,315.

Southern Tier Gas Corp., $1,386.

Orange and Rockland Utilities, $164,132.

Southern Tier Gas will make cash refunds and the others will deduct the amounts due from customers' bills.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, June 27th, the 178th day of 1963. There are 187 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1776, the first Army execution in U.S. history was carried out when Thomas Hickey was put to death in New York. Hickey was a guard who plotted to capture George Washington and deliver him to British Gen. William Howe.

On this date

In 1652, an anti-speeding ordinance applying to wagons, carts and sleighs was passed by New York City lawmakers.

In 1863, York, Pa., surrendered to Confederate Gen. Jubal Early who demanded $100,000 and supplies.

In 1939, heavyweight champion Joe Louis kayoed challenger Tony Galento in the fourth round of their title bout.

In 1942, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover announced the arrest of eight trained Nazi saboteurs alleged to have been landed by Axis submarines at points on Long Island, New York and Florida.

In 1950, Lt. Col. James Little of Wyoming knocked down a Chinese Communist plane in firing the first aerial shot of the Korean War.

Ten years ago . . . Doctors ordered Britain's 78-year-old prime minister, Sir Winston Churchill, to rest for at least a month because his health had been imperiled by overwork.

Five years ago . . . Two U.S. Air Force jet tankers crossed the Atlantic Ocean to London in less than 5½ hours but a third tanker crashed after taking off from Westover Air Force Base, Mass., with all 15 men aboard killed.

One year ago . . . President Kennedy took note of large-scale Communist Chinese troop movements into the area opposite the Nationalist Chinese-held offshore islands by reiterating U.S. policy to take whatever action necessary to the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores.

How Experts Use Convention

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There is one major difference between the experts use of Blackwood and the average player's. The average player feels that he must use Blackwood to bid a slam. The expert only uses the convention as a final check after he has decided to bid a slam and wants to make sure he has enough aces.

Thus an expert never uses Blackwood when he is void in a suit and never when he has a worthless doubleton in an unbid suit or in a suit bid by his opponents.

Thus a great many players would use Blackwood with the North hand after their partner's one spade response to the opening club bid. No expert would. The expert would reason that if partner showed one ace he wouldn't be sure that he could make six, that if partner showed two aces he wouldn't know about seven, and that even if partner showed no aces six might be cold.

Instead, the expert would probably make the bid shown in the box and jump right to six spades. He would reason that if his partner held two aces and the king of spades he would bid seven and he would reason further that irrespective of what his patner held there would be a good play to make six.

This time South makes six against an ace of diamonds opening and seven against any other lead. But even if South did not hold the king of diamonds he might make the hand. West might open a heart or even a club or a spade whereupon South would romp home with a grand slam.

Why We Say--

LIFE SUBSTANCES: Although the discovery of vitamins in food is quite modern, the word itself comes from Latin. Vitamin is taken from the Latin word vita, for life, because vitamins are substances in food which preserve life by preventing disease.

Utica Club
POPPIT CAN COLD PACK!

Needs no ice.

Needs no opener.

It's the new Utica Club Poppit Can Cold Pack, and this is how it works:

1. It consists of six Poppit cans of Utica Club beer, sealed in an insulating aluminum foil carton.

2. You put the carton into your refrigerator the night before, to chill it thoroughly. (Or you pick one up already cold from your dealer's refrigerator.)

3. Now you're all set for beer on your fishing trip or picnic. The Cold Pack will keep the Utica Club cold for hours without ice, and

4. The Poppit cans are easily opened without a can opener. Just Poppit. Zippit. Sippit.

5. The nicest part of all is that you're taking along Utica Club, the beer that still tastes like beer and smells like beer and feels like beer.

Try the Utica Club Poppit Can Cold Pack this weekend. You'll be pleased to discover that "it really works."

Newburgh Youth Killed as Auto Drops Off Rt. 9W

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — Bruce Rubinberg, 17, of Newburgh, was killed today when an automobile he was driving plunged 180 feet down a cliff overlooking the Hudson River.

The accident happened at West Point Overlook near Newburgh. Rubinberg was driving on Route 9W.

A truck driver said the car veered off the road, through a veered off the road, through a guard rail and over the cliff.

Girls to Name Governor Today

CORTLAND, N. Y. (AP) —Election of a New York State governor was on the calendar today for about 300 girls attending the annual Girls' State.

The gubernatorial contest pitted Janet Jacobi, of Yonkers running on the Nationalist ticket, against Mary Holwaty of Mohawk the Federalist standard-bearer.

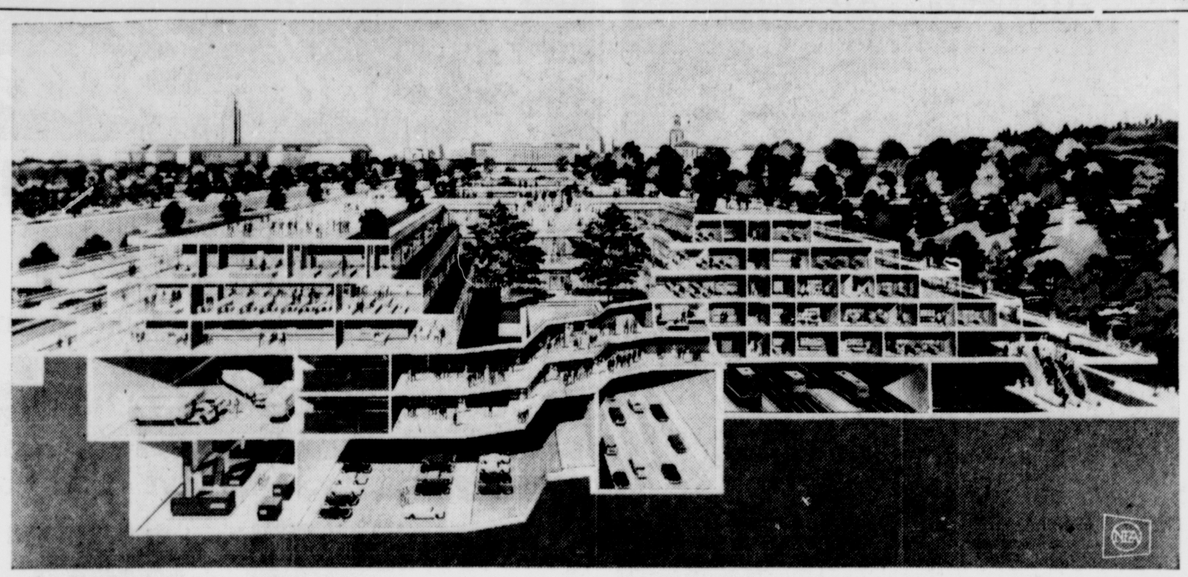

The City of Cortland made voting machines available for use in the balloting.

The week-long meeting is sponsored by the American Legion as an example of the democratic process.

Youth Drowns in Pool

ORISKANY, N. Y. (AP)—Robert Boxall, 16, of Whitesboro was drowned Wednesday while swimming in a park pool in this community near Utica.

Boxall lived with an uncle. His parents were asphyxiated about 10 years ago in an automobile.

UP IN THE VALLEY--Billed as "the nation's first 21st-century structure," massive complex shown above is a spectacular research park planned for Pittsburgh, Pa. The 18-million-square-foot facility will actually fill and cover over a mile-long segment of an ugly, unused ravine called Panther Hollow. The ravine, 900 feet wide and 150 feet deep, separates the campuses of the University of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Institute of Technology. The project will cost $250 million and is part of a ¾-billion-dollar cultural-education-scientific renaissance to be carried out over a 15-year period. At the grade level, the landscaped "roof" of the Panther Hollow Center will span the ravine and will be, in effect, an extension of adjacent Schenley Park. Large sunken courtyards will provide fresh air and sunlight to lower levels. At the bottom, a highway will be built to parallel existing railroad tracks. Between, other layers will house the center's offices and laboratories, as well as parking areas, service facilities and restaurants.

Railroad Advice

A representative of the Railroad Retirement Board will be at the U.S. Post Office, Main Building, 496 Broadway, Room 3, Wednesday, July 10, from 10 to 4 p. m. He will assist the railroad worker, his wife, widow or survivors in retirement and survivor problems and answer any inquiries which they may have in connection with the Railroad Retirement and Unemployment Insurance Acts.

Business Mirror Reflections

Midyear Outlook Is Good, Some Not Convinced Though

EDITOR'S NOTE—The first six months of 1963 have come up with pleasant economic surprises that still leave many unconvinced they are as real as they sound. In this, first of two articles on the economy at midyear, Sam Dawson, AP Business News Analyst, looks at the gains and at the problems which can't be swept under the rug.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The year that stumped the experts is a lot more vigorous at the halfway point than most hoped—or than some can believe. And even so it is castigated for not being good enough.

The stock market on average regained almost all of the ground lost in the first half of 1962. Industrial production, personal incomes, corporate profits, retail sales, employment, all have risen to new highs.

GNP Fools Experts

Steel workers and management agreed on a new contract without a strike or threat of one. And some steel product prices were raised without a White House crackdown. A rail strike, perennial threat, has been postponed again.

The auto industry has achieved that rarity, a second straight big year for sales. Household appliances are selling well again.

Cautious first of the year estimates for little, if any, economic growth this year have been raised. The Gross National Product fooled the experts, both business and government. The dollar volume of all goods and services rose from an annual rate of $563.5 billion at the end of 1962 to an estimated $580 billion at midyear.

Then why the half-hearted enthusiasm in some quarters?

First is the rise in the unemployment rate.

Second, despite the hopes raised by the steel labor pact, many industries still face rising operating costs only partly offset by mechandization.

Third is the failure to solve the problem of the deficit of international payments, now running ahead of last year's $2.2 billion.

Fourth, great expectations at the start of the year for a trade-widening pact between the United States and Europe were jolted by France's veto of Britain's bid for entrance into the European Common Market.

Adjusting Tax Rules

Midyear also finds businessmen trying to adjust to new tax rules on expense accounts.

The six months have seen such comparative novelties in recent years as soaring sugar prices, followed by investigations and partial retreats, and by wheat farmers' rejection of a high government subsidy coupled with strict production controls.

The general public remained fairly calm through it all. Increased personal incomes, now running at an annual rate of $458.2 billion, resulted in both greater spending and saving totals. There was no rush to stock up in fear of more inflation, nor to retrench in fear of recession.

The speculative fever that marked the last of 1961 and first part of 1962 was largely absent this year in the stock market.

Apparently people neither expected too much nor too little. Nor are they overly impressed by all the glittering new statistics.

Friday: What the last half promises.

Along Capitol Corridors

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—It wasn't the heat that accounted for some of the strange doings at the Capitol in recent days. It's just the way they do things in politics.

Take the Democrats' demand for a special session of the Legislature on civil rights. They made it because they knew there wasn't going to be one.

They just wanted to force Gov. Rockefeller to say he didn't want to call one.

Postive Action Results

Then they could cry: "Aha! He doesn't WANT to do anything about civil rights (or whatever controversy of the moment the Democrats say cannot be resolved without a special session.)

Rockefeller, well-versed in the ritual after 4½ years in office, refused to throw out the refusal the Democrats were waiting eagerly to pounce upon.

Instead, the governor decided upon positive action by his administration.

After statements that New York was doing everything it could in the civil rights field, the governor appointed a committee to do something—coordinate.

Then there was reapportionment.

The U.S. Supreme Court has agreed to hear a case challenging New York's formula for apportioning seats in its Legislature. The court will hear arguments that the formula is unfair, discriminatory and unconstitutional.

Upstate Republicans seized upon this as a clarion call for a special session for immediate reapportionment — under the same formula. This almost certainly would increase their majorities in the Legislature.

Not Taking Sides

Rockefeller, apparently not accustomed to demands for special sessions from Republicans, dropped his usual reticence in the face of such challenges and attacked. He said any such session would be "sheer folly." Rockefeller, who may be running for president, does not want to take sides on the reapportionment issue.

The Democrats, whose traditional prerogative for insisting upon special sessions had been usurped, came into the picture somewhat belatedly.

Only they didn't want the session actually to do any reapportioning.

What they had in mind was a plan for an immediate special session to whip into shape a new apportionment formula that could not take effect until 1966 at the earliest. The formula would be based on population and, the Democrats hope, would lead to Democratic gains.

It would need a second approval from the 1965 legislative session after approval by the special session.

Let's not forget the governor's reply to an invitation from the New York City Board of Education that he participate in a conference on its financial problems.

"I shall be glad to sit down with you as chairman of the Board of Education at any mutually convenient time," Rockefeller wrote Max J. Rubin, president of the board.

Did this mean Rockefeller would attend the meeting the board suggested? Not at all, said a press aide.

Just the Two of Us

It meant that Rockefeller would meet with Rubin—just the two of them—to talk things over.

Under the ground rules of politics, Rockefeller's attendance at the formal conference would have made him part of an operation that would be expected to achieve something.

The governor probably would have come under pressure to promise more state aid to the city's schools. Fully aware of the rapidly emptying cupboard of state funds at the Capitol, the governor would have to refuse any such pleas.

But he couldn't very well reject the invitation out of hand, leaving himself open to charges of callousness toward a school system with a million pupils.

The answer? A letter expressing willingness to meet with Rubin and, at the same time, noting that he would be "most interested in hearing of the results of your conference."

Steeger is assigned to the command's Headquarters Company. He entered the Army in August 1961 and completed basic training at Fort Dix, N. J. Specialist Steeger arrived overseas in February 1962.

The 25-year-old soldier is a 1956 graduate of Kingston High School.

Safe Boating Week

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Next week will be "Safe Boating Week" in New York State by proclamation of Gov. Rockefeller.

Rockefeller said Wednesday that safe operating practices are as important on the State's waterways as on its highways and he urged boat owners to cooperate with agencies that promote water safety.

Uncertain Values

NEW YORK (AP)—In bygone years, many people lived by a set of definite, concrete values. But it is not that way now, Dr. Robert W. Jenson, of Luther College, writes in a new book, "Alpha and Omega," published by Thomas Nelson & Sons. He says:

"In our world we say of truth that it all depends on the point of view, of beauty that we don't know much about art. . . . of goodness that we must each find his own values."

Blind, Deaf Author Has 83rd Birthday, Mail Flow Is Heavy

EASTON, Conn. (AP)—After a bustling life, Helen Keller had decided to relax a little.

So there won't be any special fuss today—her 83rd birthday.

But there was no rest for the mailman as he bore his heavy burden to Miss Keller's sprawling old house, Arcan Ridge.

Greetings to the blind and deaf author came from the humble and the great. There also were bouquets of roses, Miss Keller's favorite flower.

"You are one of the select company of men and women whose achievements have become legendary in their own time," wrote President Kennedy.

In recent years, Miss Keller has limited her activity but she continues as a consultant to the American Foundation for the Blind.

"Miss Keller is happy, alert and content," says Mrs. Evelyn Seide, her secretary and companion. "But she now wants to enjoy some of the quiet that has been denied her over the years."

Service Is Normal

NEW YORK (AP)—Commuter service on the New York Central Railroad was reported back to normal today after tieups during the rush hour Wednesday evening when hot weather caused two third-rail "bulges."

"Bulges" on the Harlem Division near Tuckahoe and on the Hudson Division near Ossining were repaired Wednesday night.

In addition to buckling the third rails by expansion, the heat taxed electric facilities in the metropolitan area.

With fans and other cooling devices running full blast, Consolidated Edison Co. estimated New York City used a record amount of electricity Wednesday.

The day's high was 96 degrees at 3:10 p.m., making it the hottest day here since last July 9.

Malott to Become Leader Emeritus Of Cornell Sunday

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) —Deane W. Malott will become president emeritus of Cornell University Sunday after heading the 98-year-old coeducational institution during 12 years of rapid, post World War II expansion.

Malott, who has remained active in the business world, plans to make his permanent home in this city on the southern end of Cayuga Lake.

His successor, James A. Perkins, vice president of the Carnegie Corp. of New York, takes office Monday.

During Malott's administration, a $110 million construction program gave a new look to the Ivy League university's 423-acre Ithaca campus. The total enrollment reached more than 12,000 and the faculty grew from 868 to 1,213 full-time members whose salaries increased on the average of 87 per cent during the period.

At the same time, Cornell's graduate enrollment increased from 1,471 to 2,467.

Malott, 64, came to Cornell in 1951 after 12 years as chancellor of the University of Kansas, his alma mater.

Malott told a reporter Wednesday night he would continue to have an office at the university "but no duties for the moment."

"I expect to do some traveling," he said. "And I have definitely decided not to make any immediate decision on future plans.

"I'm going to draw a long breath first."

Malott said, in reply to a question, that "one of my most satisfying experiences at Cornell was helping to develop and expand the library facilities of the institution."

"During my 12 years as president, the school built 12 new libraries and book selections were enormously expanded.

"And it was a genuine satisfaction to have helped develop our faculty to greater distinction."

Malott was asked to comment on the caliber of contemporary students at Cornell as compared with those he watched 12 years ago.

"Students now are more purposeful, I think," he said, "more concerned with academic life and careers. This is partly because of the seriousness of the time and because so many go on to professional and graduate schools."

Before coming to Cornell he was an associate professor and an assistant dean at the Harvard Business School and vice president of the Hawaiian Pineapple Co.

Malott was born in Abilene, where he was a boyhood friend of former President Eisenhower.

In 1921, Malott graduated from the University of Kansas. He received a masters degree from the Harvard Business School in 1923.

Malott is married to the former Eleanor Sisson Thrum. They have three children.

Paulette Miller Weds Thomas Fisher; Bride's Gown Is Silk Organza, Taffeta

Paulette E. Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller of 197 Fourth Avenue, this city, exchanged nuptial vows with Thomas Fisher, son of Mrs. Thomas Cragan of Walden, and Thomas Fisher of Poughkeepsie. The wedding ceremony took place on June 23 at 1:30 p. m. at the Immaculate Conception Church. Officiating was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph Sieczek, pastor.

Theresa Gehringer was organist and John Markett was soloist.

Baskets of white carnations decorated the church for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza posed over bridal taffeta designed with a fitted lace bodice, long tapered sleeves, and a scalloped neckline. The bouffant skirt of tiered lace and organza swept back into a circular train. The stylized headpiece of pearlized flowers and buds secured the triple tiered silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade of carnations with streamers.

Mrs. Thomas Cafaldo of 62 Foxhall Avenue, this city, served as matron of honor for her sister. She wore a gown of apricot chiffon fashioned with a molded bodice and cocktail length skirt. A matching sleeved stole with floating back panels completed her ensemble and she also wore a stylized headpiece of aurora crystals with a tulle veil. She carried jade green carnations.

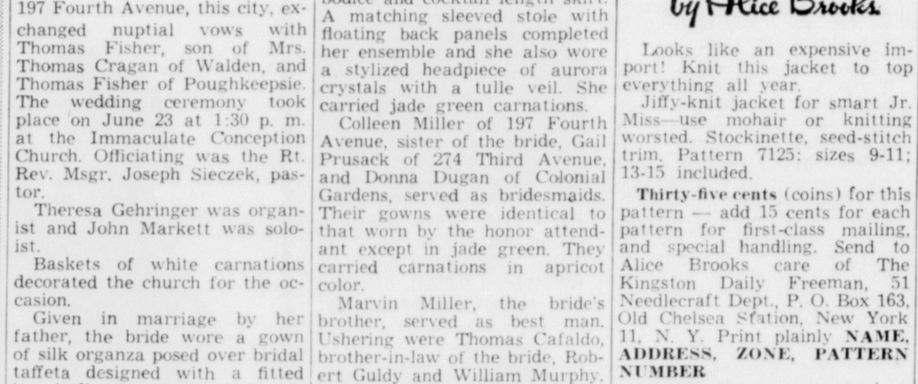

Colleen Miller of 197 Fourth Avenue, sister of the bride, Gail Prusack of 274 Third Avenue, and Donna Dugan of Colonial Gardens, served as bridesmaids. Their gowns were identical to that worn by the honor attendant except in jade green. They carried carnations in apricot color.

Marvin Miller, the bride's brother, served as best man. Ushering were Thomas Cafaldo, brother-in-law of the bride, Robert Guldy and William Murphy. Joseph Cafaldo, the bride's nephew, was ringbearer.

Approximately 125 guests were received at the White Eagle Hall for a reception. Afterwards the couple left on their wedding trip. The bride wore a two-piece yellow ensemble with matching accessories.

We The Women

The Tactful Way

A recent issue of a woman's magazine featured an article called "Tact Can Get Things Done."

Truer words were never spoken. We women are forever letting ourselves be persuaded into doing things that we don't really want to do, because some tactful person sweet-talks us into it.

Who would take the job of treasurer of an organization, if frankly told, "This is a hard and thankless job that nobody wants. Will you take it?"? Nobody would take it, that's who.

But a tactful nominating committee chairman can get her treasurer by some such line as, "You're so good at financial matters and so businesslike that you're really the only member capable of making a good treasurer." That kind of tact gets the vacancy filled — even if it has to be used on several different members before one swallows it hook, line, and sinker.

Who would take on the job of homeroom mother or den mother or Brownie leader, if told candidly, "Any mother, almost, could do this job, but most mothers are so quick on the excuses it is hard to find leaders." Nobody would, of course.

So the tactful woman whose job it is to secure leaders tells each prospect, "You are the ideal person for this job. You get along so well with children; you have so many original ideas; you are the kind of person all the mothers would be glad to trust their children to."

And so it goes. Most of the volunteer work of the world is done by women who have had tact used on them. Without tact —the volunteer jobs would go begging.

But there's always someone at the top smart enough to know that "tact can get things done."

Something for tactful men: Ruth Millett's "Happier Wives (hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service care of The Freeman, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

What makes a Rolex agent?

THERE's much more in being a Rolex authorized agent than having a watch to sell. A Rolex agent is selected with much thought and care.
He is selected because he's a top man in his trade; his qualifications and experience are beyond reproach; he is the sort of man who can handle the finest watches in the world.
His stock of watches is well replenished, his range of spare parts is comprehensive enough for any emergency. He is fully informed about Rolex improvements, about their research, of the discoveries they have made.
And when your Rolex needs cleaning, or servicing, you can leave it in his hands with complete confidence. He is equipped and qualified to give it the best service of all—perfect service.
The back of a Rolex Oyster is milled to a perfect fit with a special die produced exclusively by Rolex to assure smooth operation in removing the back for service. This is an important bit of knowledge that a Rolex agent must know . . . and the special die an important tool he must possess.

EXCHANGING GIFT PIN

Q: When I retired as president of our woman's club, the members gave me a pin. The pin was bought at our local jewelers and while it is very nice, it is not my taste. There is another pin in the window at this same jeweler's that I have been admiring and would much prefer it to the one they bought me. Would it be proper for me to take it back and exchange it, or could they possibly be offended?

A: Unless, when the pin was presented to you, you were told you could exchange it for another if you wished to do so, you must keep the pin they gave you. Not to do so would be very lacking in appreciation and hurtful to their feelings.

Placing Place Cards

Q: When setting a table with place cards, will you please tell me where they are properly placed — on the plate, above the plate, or where?

A: They are placed where they can be most easily seen and read — above the plate or to one side of it, but most often on the napkin which is itself on the plate.

Paying Check in Cafeteria

Q: When a man and girl go to a cafeteria, shouldn't the man precede her so that when they reach the end of the line where the cashier is seated, he can pay for her food? If she goes first it makes a rather awkward situation.

A: She should go ahead of him and when they get to where the cashier is, he merely leans forward and says to the cashier, "This lady is with me, please add her food to my check." If the cafeteria insists on a separate check for each customer, he asks that her check be given to him.

Mona Sylvia Jore, Timothy F. Moore Exchange Vows at St. John's Church

On Saturday, June 22 at St. John's Church in West Hurley, marriage vows were exchanged by Mona Sylvia Jore of Woodstock and Timothy F. Moore of Kingston. Officiating was the Rev. Bernard P. Gerrity assistant pastor of St. Philomena Church. Music was provided by Angelo Altamari.

Mr. Jore gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of white silk shantung fashioned in princess style, trimmed at the waistline with flowerettes of Alencon lace and accented with seed pearls and shantung rosebuds. Her sweep length train was centered at the back with a large matching bow. With it, the bride wore a tulle fingertip length veil attached to a crown of pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of red and white sweetheart roses and ivy.

Miss Maureen Moore of Waterbury, Conn., was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a pale blue silk linen gown accented with self-appliques at the waistline. Jack DeMarche of Manchester, Conn., was best man. Ushers were Ken Muller and Mike Stupak of Kingston.

A reception was given at Skytop Restaurant for approximately 50 guests. After the couple left on a wedding trip to Cape Cod, Mass. For traveling the bride wore a navy blue silk three-piece ensemble with matching accessories. She also wore a blue flowered hat and a corsage of white sweetheart roses.

The bride attended the University of Edinburgh and was graduated from St. Lawrence University. She has been teaching senior English for three years and is employed by the Onteora Central School system. Her husband was graduated from the University of Connecticut with a degree in mechanical engineering. He is employed by Hercules Powder Company in Port Ewen as a design engineer.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore plan to reside in Woodstock when they return.

MARCH OF FLUORIDATION—Of the nation's 61 most populous cities, 27 have fluorides added to their drinking water, another has approved fluoridation (Detroit) and five have natural fluoridation (Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, Albuquerque and Jacksonville). Addition of fluorides to water is designed to strengthen human teeth against decay. Newsmap spots these 61 cities. Those with fluoridation are named in black boxes. In many cases, total number of persons drinking fluoridated water is greater than the city's population because surrounding suburbs may buy water from the city. For instance, over 3.5 million persons in Chicago drink fluoridated water, plus 300,000 others in 58 suburbs using Chicago water. Detroit will begin fluoridating in 1964, affecting 3.5 million people in the city and 53 suburbs. New York's mayor plans to inaugurate fluoridation before the end of 1963. Over the nation as a whole, more than 51 million Americans in 4,251 communities were drinking fluoridated water at the end of 1962. Of these, 7.2 million had natural fluoridation, 43.8 million had controlled fluoridation.

Klein Attacks Schwenk, GOP Is Not Asking Time

Attorney Aaron E. Klein, as Democratic city chairman, and spokesman for his party in reply to a recent radio address by Mayor John J. Schwenk, said in a Wednesday broadcast that the mayor "apparently believes that the Common Council is there solely to do his bidding."

Klein had asked for equal time on the air to answer the mayor, who had charged Democratic aldermen with "log rolling" in their action on a street-repair program, and Station WKNY granted Klein's request.

Not Seeking Time

Attorney Howard C. St. John, as Republican city chairman, today said: "The Republican party does not feel that it should involve itself in a political dog fight over the non-partisan, professionally planned street program of the Board of Public Works, and will not seek equal time (radio) to answer Mr. Klein's attack on the personal integrity of Mayor John J. Schwenk.

Klein said on the air that the mayor "for too long a time has been permitted to pose as the kindly, easy-going, fatherly type of man. This is not as I see the real John Schwenk. He speaks of bi-partisanship, but what he really means is one-man rule." Here he added that Schwenk seems to feel that the aldermen are there for his bidding, and said, if the council does not agree with him "then certainly, it must be only because, it is made up largely of knaves or fools."

After emphasizing that the recently approved program is only part one of a two-phase program, and that action on it appears to be misrepresented, Klein said, if the mayor is "a sincere and honest individual, he and the members of the BPW should meet with the Common Council and arrive at a basis for agreement for the balance of the street program, instead of battering the airwaves with his invectives against the Democratic party."

Claims Credit

Klein held that if it were not for the Democrats in the council "the pre-election promise made two years ago by Mayor Schwenk would not now be written into law. It was the Democrats, who lowered the parking meter fees, who advanced urban renewal, who voted senior housing, and brought about the uptown parking lots."

The Democratic chairman held that while the mayor speaks of "bi-partisan boards" and need for cooperation with men skilled in street repair work, he recently opposed a proposal of the non-partisan water board.

He held also that when the mayor speaks of the 1963 street program he calls it the BPW program, but in alluding to an earlier program calls it that of the Democratic mayor. He also charged that while the mayor cites the responsibility of the BPW, he avoids mention of the council's responsibility to act on funds.

Klein held there was an imbalance on the street program of projects in Republican and Democratic wards, and contended that the Republicans could also be accused of "log rolling." The street program issue, he said, was "strictly up to the mayor, and he cannot duck it by political oratory, or by substituting slick, Madison Avenue publicity releases for action."

U.S. WHEAT SPROUTS KNOWLEDGE—Tackling surplus wheat as a problem of under-consumption rather than overproduction, farmers banded together in the Great Plains Wheat Marketing Assn. are doing something about it. To further consumption and, at the same time bring better nutrition to millions, they are engaged in many projects world-wide. • In one of them, above, Mrs. Harlan Parkinson, wife of Great Plains' operations chief in South America, teaches school in a parent-built school of Leticia, poverty-stricken suburb of Lima. • Children receive more than half their daily food needs through joint efforts of Great Plains Wheat, U.S. Food for Peace Administration and Peruvian government. • Begun in Leticia, school lunch program has spread throughout Peru, with one million children the target for benefits under the health-knowledge effort.

McKeon Still Critical

NEW YORK (AP)—Democratic State Chairman William H. McKeon says Gov. Rockefeller's expressed support of President Kennedy's civil rights legislative program is an example of "me-tooism."

McKeon says the Republican governor "sees that which is opportune at the moment and supports it."

He made the statement Wednesday night at a news conference after a meeting at which leaders of the Nationalities Division of the Democratic State Committee pledged "continued and enthusiastic support" of Kennedy's program against discrimination.

YOUNGSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—An automobile struck two trees near here early today, killing two men.

They were Patrick Cavanaugh and Calvin G. McCartney, 36, both of the Town of Niagara.

matter of fact

Our word "tantalize" derives from the Greek legend of Tantalus who stole fruit and nectar from the gods. As a punishment in Hades he was made to stand up to his neck in water which flowed from him when he tried to drink, while over his head hung fruits which the wind blew out of reach when he tried to grasp them.

Shultis Elected To Head Baptist Men for 1963-64

Alfred E. Shultis of West Hurley was elected president of the Men's Club of First Baptist Church during the annual steak roast and meeting Wednesday night at Upper Hasbrouck Park.

Shultis succeeds George R. Kenneda of Hurley.

Others on the slate include:

Billy Smallwood, vice-president; Albert O. Sonnenberg, treasurer and Irwin J. Thomas, secretary.

The new officers will be installed during the next regular meeting Wednesday night, Sept. 25.

Highlight of the night's program was the annual softball clash between Al Sonnenberg's Classics and Jim Decker's Mudcats. The Classics, behind some stout pitching by Bill Williams and clutch hitting by Al Shultis, won the squeaker, 10-8. Billy Smallwood stroked a pair of homers in a losing cause.

Refreshment committee members preparing the steak roast included George Matthews, Sherwood Lasher, Bill More and Billy Smallwood.

James P. Martin, president, presided. The following officers and members attended: Albert Ochner, first vice president; Mrs. Florence Fennelly, recording secretary; Martin Kelly, financial secretary; Frederick Paulus, treasurer; Leon Studt, Mrs. Grace Wojciechowski, Mrs. Dorothy Lacey, directors; Joseph Schrowang, Gustav Granlund, William Long, Harold Fitzgerald, Steven Wineski, Earl Simmons, Frederick Storms, John Sweeney, Alfred Secreto, George MacDonald, John Mooney, James Castle, Leo Markle, Henry Dawe, Harold DeGraff, Raymond Long, Miss Julie Richardson, Charles Kohl, Chester Tobias, Walter Gemmell, John Scully and James Slough.

The list of the committees that were appointed and approved at the last board of directors meeting was read by the secretary.

1. To have the board of directors of the association meet every third Monday of each month. This suggestion was not accepted by Mr. Martin, president.

2. Members on committees, who are not active and do not attend the meetings should be taken off the committees and new names be submitted to the president for his approval and the approval of the board. This suggestion was approved by the president.

After adjournment the members participated in the annual summer social and refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held September 23, at 25 East O'Reilly Street.

6-Mo. Licenses Available Friday

Inquiry at the Ulster County Motor Vehicle Bureau office on Main Street Wednesday, disclosed that notice had just been received to the effect that half-year licenses may be obtained beginning Friday, June 28, instead of waiting until Monday, July 1.

Car owners who make applications on June 28 for the six-months registrations must have their FS-1 insurance form and it must be effective as of that date, not as of Monday, July 1, or a later date.

Owners of motor vehicles who seek to register them on or after July 1 and at the half year rate, must provide the FS-1 insurance form at the time of applying for a license.

Camp Jay Cee Cee Ready for Season Opening on July 1

With 112 children registered for the summer at Camp Jay Cee Cee, a staff of 20 counselors and specialists will wind up a full week of staff training at the Jewish Community Center Camping Reservation on Old Hurley Mountain Friday. Under the guidance of Robert A. Kurland, camp director and Ronald Cole, head counselor, the children will start their summer day camp program Monday, July 1.

Group leaders for the summer include Mrs. Rosalind Schwartz, Joseph Mauceri, Mary O'Connor, Richard Strong, Mrs. Mary Strong, Dean Bullock, Alice Brodhead, Robert Grupe and Mrs. Elissa Teitelbaum. Assisting these leaders will be Roberta Fishkin, Phyllis Klein, Sherry Singer, Felice Wilpan and Linda Rose. The camp arts and crafts program will be under the direction of Mrs. Audrey Grupe; Waterfront, Carlton Bell; Music and Dramatic, Ellery Sonking and the Camp Ranger will be Louis Klein.

Review Workshops

The intensive one-week staff training program has included full preparation for all of the program and activities of the camp to supplement the experience and training that the staff bring with them from their school, college and teaching backgrounds. Workshops have included music and rhythms, arts and crafts skills, waterfront procedures, first aid, woodcraft skills, nature programming and group games. Group discussions have been participated in by the staff members in the areas of camp philosophy, reports and paper work, program planning, special events, overnight preparation and transition from city to country setting.

The camp will operate for a full eight-week period that has been divided into two week themes. These include: Good Citizens, Wild West and Indian Lore, Nature and Physical Fitness, and Carnival and Circus. Weekly baseball games have been scheduled with other camps and recreation programs and a number of overnight sleep-outs for older campers planned for. During the season there will be four parent visiting days Friday afternoons and cook-out is scheduled at lunchtime every Thursday. Current plans also call for several trips and for younger camper evening cookouts with their parents.

Swim Classes Available

The camp operates according to the American National Red Cross swimming standards, and all campers are given the opportunity of learning to swim or improving their swimming ability in daily swimming lessons. Every afternoon the campers also enjoy a full hour of fun swimming in the large 40 by 80-foot outdoor swimming pool. Kindergarten aged campers have their special 25 by 25-foot concrete wading pool adjacent to the regular swimming pool. During last summer, over 140 certificates and emblems for swimming advancement were awarded at Camp Jay Cee Cee.

Camp Jay Cee Cee is a non-profit summer program for boys and girls of the Kingston area sponsored by the Kingston Jewish Community Center. Camp intake policies are non-secretarian and the sponsoring agency is a member of the Ulster County Community Chest. Mrs. Edward Weissman is chairman of the Camp Committee and Seymour Werbalowsky is president of the Jewish Community Center.

Wedding Bands

The wedding ring generally is worn on the third finger of the left hand because of an old belief. People supposed that a vein runs directly from this finger to the heart, thus heart and hand are offered together. The custom continues though the belief is untrue.

Canfield Braves Defeat Pirates

Canfield Electric Braves scored eight runs on one hit, but the V.F.W. Pirates edged them, 11-8, on 10 hits yesterday in the National Little League.

John Terpening and Dave Goldman collaborated on the 1-hitter and Goldman padded the Pirates' run total with a pair of home runs and a single. Gary Schoonmaker, Pirate second baseman, also homered and added two singles in three trips.

Terpening struck out 14 batters and picked up a pair of singles. Steve Riddick's single was the lone Canfield safety. Bob Cook, the losing pitcher, fanned nine.

Gilliam Killing The Reds

Junior Gilliam is a 34-year-old infielder who sometimes is called old. Ron Perranoski is a relief pitcher who sometimes is called busy.

The Cincinnati Reds, however, are more likely to call them other things.

Gilliam has beaten them with run-scoring eighth inning doubles for two nights in a row and Perranoski has finished two of the last three games, all of which Cincinnati has lost. Gilliam and Perranoski provided the key for the Los Angeles Dodgers' 5-2 triumph over the Reds Wednesday night, completing a sweep of the three-game set and running the Dodgers' string to four.

It kept the second-place Dodgers a half game off the pace set by St. Louis and dropped the fourth-place Reds three games behind.

The Cards maintained their narrow hold on the top spot with a 6-5 decision over San Francisco, dropping the Giants 1½ games behind. Hapless Houston ended a 10-game losing string, scoring five runs in the 13th inning and beating Milwaukee 7-2. Tim Harkness' grand slam homer with two out in the 14th brought the New York Mets an 8-6 triumph over Chicago and Philadelphia defeated Pittsburgh 6-2.

Charley James cracked a bases-loaded single over San Francisco drawn-in outfield for the Cardinals' tie-breaking run in the ninth. Ken Boyer drove in four Cardinal runs with a single and three-run homer while Orlando Cepeda hit his 15th homer for the Giants.

Houston had scored only six runs in losing 10 straight. Bob Lillis singled in a run, Johnny Temple doubled in two more, another scored on an error and still another on a wild pitch. Hal Woodeshick, 7-3, won it with six innings of shutout relief pitching.

Harkness slamed a two-out 3-2 pitch by Jim Brewer into the lower right field stands in the 14th inning for his first grand slammer. The Cubs appeared to have put it out of reach on Billy Williams' two-run homer in the top of the inning.

The Pirates let in an unearned run in the fourth, which proved to be the winner, and the Phillies added three more in a wild eight. One came in while a Pirate infielder argued with an umpire and another when a throw for a force play hit a Phillie runner.

Crantz and Tomson Also Excel on Mound

Lou Perry pitched a 3-hitter and struck out 14, as the Elks knocked the VFW (3-0) from the unbeaten ranks with a 5-0 victory in the National Division of the Babe Ruth League.

Meanwhile, Hurley won its fourth game in five American starts with a 3-1 victory over the Kingston Patrolmen's Association. In the other contest, the 35 Club squared its American record at 2-2 with a 14 to 1 romp over the Rotary.

35 Club opened with 8 runs and breezed behind Vin Crantz's 1-hitter, a single by Charlie Green. Crantz fanned 15 and struck a double. Mike Smedes and Dan Ahearn each singled twice.

Local Players Survive Two Big IBM Bogies

George Hughes (Twaalfskill) and Harvey Bostic (Wiltwyck), two of the best known area amateurs, survived a couple of spectacular bogey holes to qualify for the New York State Amateur Wednesday at the IBM Golf and Country Club at Poughkeepsie.

Hughes triple-bogied the par-four 15th hole but finished among the 15 qualifiers with a 4-over-par 76 on the 38-34-72 Dutchess layout. He haid a pair of 38's.

Bostic soared 5 over par on the par-4 ninth hole for a front nine 43 but staged a brilliant rally to match par figures on the back nine. He shot 43-34-77.

Has Three OB's

Hughes picked up his bogie-7 when his drive hit the rough and his ball hit a tree as he tried to reach the fairway on his second shot. Bostic's troubles piled up as he had three balls out of bounds on the 9th.

Other qualifiers at Poughkeepsie were:

Joseph Bushee, Poughkeepsie, 72; Richard Spears, Port Jervis, 72; Raymond Billows, Poughkeepsie, 73; Phillip Schwartz, Fishkill, 75; Robert Botsford, Poughkeepsie, 75; John Pretak, Poughkeepsie, 76; Arthur Kalaka, Beacon, 76; John Esterbrook Jr., Newburgh, 76; Fred W. Oerner, Port Jervis, 77; James Peeler, Poughkeepsie, 77; Dr. George Spielberger, Millbrook, 77, and Jerry Affron, Otterkill, 77.

In all, 30 contestants gained entry Wednesday into the state tournament at Knollwood Country Club, White Plains, July 17-21. Sixty eight other golfers qualified in upstate areas earlier this week and qualifying rounds are scheduled Friday at Briarcliff Manor and Jamestown.

Sudden Death

At Albany's Normanside Country Club, Anthony Maragno of Gloversville dropped in a sudden-death putt to lead 11 Albany qualifiers.

Dimmick, an employe of the Binghamton Container Co., scored five birdies and posted a one-under-par 70.

Other qualifiers in the field of 14 at Binghamton were Art Sharpsteen, Binghamton, 73; Dick Baldwin of Chenango Bridge, 74; and Richie Karl, Endicott, 74.

Maragno, 41, an electrical contractor, canned his dramatic putt on the first hole of a four-way, sudden-death play-off.

He birdied the par-four first in the playoff while John Germann of Albany, Pete Famiano of Schenectady and Peter Liebschutz of Rochester parred it.

All four had completed the par-70 course with 72's.

LA Angels Advance to 5th Place

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Down in the second division since early May and overlooked in the American League pennant scramble, the Los Angeles Angels found themselves in fifth place today after sweeping a twi-night doubleheader from Baltimore 3-1 and 3-2 Wednesday.

The Angels, third in last year's pennant chase, climbed from seventh place and dropped the slumping Orioles into sixth on strong pitching by newly acquired Paul Foytack and ace Ken McBride.

Making his first start since he was acquired from Detroit — and his first since last Sept. 12 — Foytack allowed three hits before tiring in the ninth and came away with the victory on Julio Navarro's relief help.

McBride won his sixth straight with a three-hitter in the nightcap as the Angels posted their ninth victory in 12 games and handed the Orioles their 22nd defeat in 30 games.

The first-place New York Yankees moved one game in front of second-place Chicago by beating the White Sox 3-2 on home runs by Tom Tresh and Roger Maris. It was the Yankees first victory in five games with the Chicagoans this season.

Minnesota used two homers by Bob Allison and one by Earl Battey to subdue Detroit 6-1. Boston edged Cleveland 6-5 on a ninth inning homer by Ed Bressoud his second of the game. The Washington at Kansas City game was rained out.

Tresh's 12th homer and Maris' 16th gave Whitey Ford an imposing 11-3 record. Ford wilted in 90-degree heat and needed Hal Reniff's help in the seventh. The Yankees moved ahead to stay in the fourth inning on a double by Tresh and Elston Howard's single off loser Gary Peters, 4-4.

Home run leader Allison hit Nos. 18 and 19 and now has a league-leading 52 runs batted in while Battey connected for his 16th homer and brought his RBI total to 43. Vic Power's bases-loaded single in the seventh cracked a 1-1 tie and brought Dick Stigman, 6-7, the victory with Bill Dailey's relief aid. Bill Faul, 3-3 took the loss.

The Red Sox made it four in a row over the Indians when Bressoud connected off Pedro Ramos, 3-2, in the ninth after Cleveland had tied the score in the top of the inning on a pinch-hit, two-run homer by Joe Adcock. All Boston's runs came on homers with Russ Nixon and Chuck Schilling also connecting. Jack Lamabe, working in relief, was the winner for a 4-0 record.

Lasher Pitches 4-Hitter to Get Victory, 5 and 2

Subway defeated Yallum's Kings, 5 to 2, to take over undisputed possession of first place in the City Softball League Wednesday. The teams were tied with 7 wins and one loss each going into the payoff clash.

Mike Lasher pitched a strong 4-hitter to gain the decision over W. C. Lindsey, who was touched for 10 hits. Lasher permitted a run in the first and seventh innings.

In other games, Hilltop continued its batting rampage to crush Bloomington, 15-2, giving them a total of 38 runs for the last two games. Bloomington had upset Yallum's, 8-3, Monday night. Third place Triangles rolled up the most lopsided victory of season, blasting Sickler's 55 Club behind the 3-hit pitching of Bob Sickler.

Triangles	5	4

Costello Fans 12

Bill Costello stopped Bloomington on six hits, pitched shutout ball after the first inning and fanned 12, a tall total for local softball. He also slammed a home run. Pratt was the only batter who bothered him hitting a double and homer. Don Davis slugged four singles and Sam Perry hit three for Hilltop.

Triangles exploded for 20 hits against Taylor, Bob Sickler, the winning pitcher, setting the pace with two home runs and two singles in six trips. Frank Turck hit three singles and Bob Burns and Jack Garrison homered.

B.F.CoaltownDue At The Mighty M

MONTICELLO — B. F. Coaltown, national 2-year-old trotting champion in 1962, makes his debut at Monticello Raceway Thursday night when he goes postward in the $2,500 invitational trotting co-feature.

B. F. Coaltown, a winner of 21 of 27 starts in 1962 en route to a 2:03.3 mark at Sicoto Downs, Columbus, Ohio, has drawn the No. 2 post position and will match strides against seven top local trotters.

Carl Larsen, who recently took over B. F. Coaltown, will drive the sensational brown son of Galophone-Sis Rodney. Charles D. Hill of Columbus, recently purchased the three-year-old colt for an undisclosed sum and turned him over to Larsen, who has been campaigning at the upstate Vernon Downs track.

B. F. Coaltown, who is staked in the Hambletonian and Kentucky Futurity later this summer, will go postward the probable odds-on favorite.

Puerto Rico's Caribbean National Forest has some 1,600 showers a year, most lasting only 20 mintes.

Carpenter Leader Loses Again in New Hearing Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maurice A. Hutcheson, president of the Carpenters Union, AFL-CIO, lost another round today in his fifth against a contempt of Congress conviction for refusing to answer questions before the Senate rackets committee.

The U.S. Court of Appeals upheld the District Court's refusal to grant Hutcheson a new hearing.

Hutcheson had asked for probation to avoid serving his six-month sentence. He also sought dismissal of the indictment but the court held he came up at too late a stage of the case with the legal argument on which that petition was based.

The conviction involved Hutcheson's refusal in 1958 to answer questions about an Indiana highway right-of-way transaction in which Hutcheson later was separately convicted.

The contempt conviction already has been confirmed once by the Supreme Court which also has refused a rehearing on that appeal.

Seize Saugerties Youth on Greene Sealed Indictment

A Saugerties youth, allegedly involved in what was described as a teenage "orgy" last May 4 in Palenville, was arrested by State Police from Leeds Wednesday on a bench warrant issued by Greene County Judge Roy C. Moon.

Raymond James Krom Jr., 19, of 110 West Bridge Street, was charged with providing alcoholic beverages to minors.

The youth was named in a sealed indictment handed up by the May Grand Jury in Greene County. His case was put over to July 1 before Judge Moon in order to obtain counsel. Bail was set at $250.

Greene County District Attorney Alex Wiltsie said Krom was among a number of young people indicted by the grand jury along with Ernest Gill of Palenville, at whose property the alleged "orgy" occurred.

Gill was indicted on a similar count along with other charges, including allegedly allowing children under 16 to be placed where their morals were liable to be corrupted. His case is pending.

Wiltsie, State Police and other officers led a raid on the Gill property, where, they said, young people were involved in a "party" where intoxicating beverages were being consumed.

The district attorney said the younger children named in the indictments were treated as youthful offenders because of their age. Krom, Wiltsie said, allegedly purchased beer and brandy, and took it to the Gill place, where it was given to children under 18 years of age, including some 12 and 13-year-olds.

Krom was arrested by Investigator R. T. Brenzel of the Leeds substation Bureau of Criminal Investigation.

Tass Accuses Kennedy

MOSCOW (AP)—Tass, the Soviet news agency, said today that President Kennedy's visit to West Berlin demonstrated American support for West Germans seeking revenge for their defeat in World War II.

Tass summing up the President's trip, said his Berlin visit contradicted his pledge to seek ways to rid mankind of the threat of war.

Capture Wallkill Escapees

EMANUEL BROWN

FLOYD DANIELS

The capture of two escapees who fled Wallkill State Prison Wednesday was reported early this afternoon near New Paltz.

Details of the capture were not available at Freeman press time.

They were identified as Emanuel Brown, 29, of Binghamton, a convicted burglar; and Floyd Daniels, 28, of Plattsburgh, who was serving time on a felonious assault charge.

State police, members of the Sheriffs Department and prison officials were seeking the escapees in the heavily-wooded areas adjacent to the farmland-bounded prison. Road blocks were set up.

State Police said Brown and Daniels apparently broke into a house, grabbed some clothing and fled.

According to prison records, Brown was serving a sentence of from five to seven years upon conviction in Broome County on a third-degree burglary charge.

Daniels, records show he was convicted in St. Lawrence County on a second-degree assault charge and was sent to Clinton Prison in Dannemora in November 1962. He was transferred to Wallkill the same month to serve a five-to-eight-year sentence.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK, (AP) — The stock market rebounded in moderately active trading early this afternoon. Steels, motors, oils, and retails were among the gainers.

The recovery was irregular and began to lose some of its steam as trading went into the afternoon.

Analysts regarded it as a technical bounce from Wednesday's sell-off, the worst in four months. At the same time, stock chart followers saw the market nearing a level in the averages at which stout resistance to further decline could be expected.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .1 at 271.5 with industrials up .5, rails off .2, and utilities off .1.

Pennsylvania Railroad traded on an early block of 19,400 shares and two blocks of 10,000 shares each later. New York Central also added a fraction but Rock Island slipped fractionally and other leading carrirs put on a scrambled performance.

Chrysler rose about a point, Ford and General Motors fractions. Studebaker and American Motors were about unchanged.

United Air Lines dropped 2.

Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, and Montgomery Ward all posted fractional gains. Xerox, Polaroid and U.S. Smelting all advanced 2 or better. IBM and Control Data rose a point or so.

U.S. Steel rose ⅜ to 48⅜ on 9,600 shares. Timken Roller Bearing gained ½ at 69 on 10,000 shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.37 at 710.36.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange in quiet trading.

Corporate bonds were mixed with rails higher and utilities lower. U.S. Government bonds showed little change in quiet dealings over the counter.

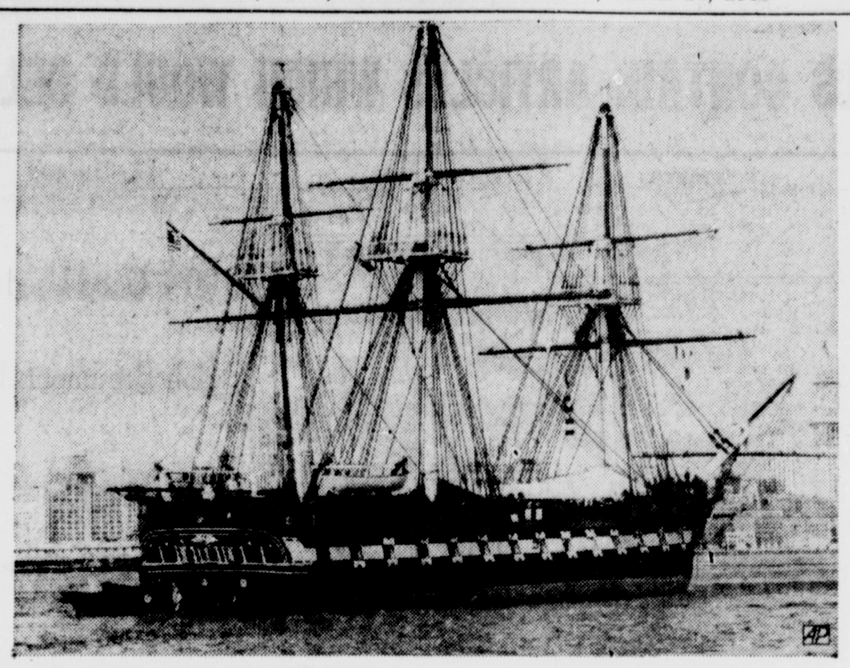

Quotations by Wood, Walker & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 63 Wall Street, New York City, branch office, 52 Main Street, Matthew F. Hasbrouck Jr., manager.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

by ROGER E. SPEAR
Investment Adviser and Analyst

Excellence of Portfolio Shows Wise Judgment

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I have $5,000 for investment together with $15,000 in savings and a portfolio valued at about $90,000. Do you think I have enough in savings, and if so, what stocks should I buy? My portfolio consists of three old, established insurance stocks; also General Telephone, Safeway Stores, Rockwell Mfg., Tecumseh Corporation, Bank of America, Scott Paper, San Diego Gas & Electric, Southern California Edison, Ducommun Inc., Bullock's, California Water & Telephone, Pacific Power & Light, Greyhound, Standard Oil of California. Should I make new investments or add to my present holdings?" F.M.

A) You have used good judgment and built a list so generally excellent that I feel it should be printed in its entirety. At the present relatively high level of the market, it would be prudent, in my opinion, to add $5,000 to your savings reserve. Your holdings are well distributed and, for the future, I would avoid overdiversification by building up your present portfolio rather than by making any new commmitments.

Q) "Why do you recommend municipals for high income bracket persons only? I should think that all of us in the lower brackets would like tax-exempt income." H.M.

(A) I am sorry if I seemed to exclude good people like yourself from the purchase of municipals as an investment. If I did so, it was only because this type of bond—in relation to other securities—commands a premium which institutions and high-income investors are willing to pay. Anyone in the 50 per cent bracket who gets a 3.25 tax-exempt yield is doing just as well as if he held a 6½ per cent taxable security. But in the 20 per cent bracket, the tax-exempt equivalent would be only 4.06 per cent—less than the yield on some Treasury issues. For your consideration, I suggest LaFollette, Tennessee, Housing Authority, 3¼'s of 1995, at par, secured by pledge of annual contributions payable by the Federal Public Housing Administration and rated AAA.

planned, but where sectional repair is found necessary it will be made "as the need arises."

Paving Going On

A first phase of repair, dealing largely with pavement, is now in progress, and Manning said, "more of the same will be done, as the need arises." The project now under way is due to last until Friday afternoon, and some alternate flagging of traffic is required.

Area officials asked for examinations to determine the safety of the span, after the collapse in August, 1962, of the 38-year-old Esopus Creek bridge under weight of a heavy trailer truck.

A new bridge is now being built over the Esopus as part of the Washington Avenue-Route 28 arterial project, which also calls for razing of the narrow Washington Avenue viaduct.

Irish Barnyard Is Setting for President's Tea

DUNGANSTOWN, Ireland (AP) President Kennedy returned to the homestead of his Irish forefathers today and drank tea in the barnyard with cousins and their neighbors.

The President's third cousin, widow Mary Ann Ryan, laid long tables for tea, cakes and pies to serve "Cousin Jack."

Neighbors, some in their Sunday best and some in aprons, helped serve.

Great New Ross Welcome

The party assembled in the barnyard between Mrs. Ryan's house and the tin-roofed cottage the President's great-grandfather, Patrick Kennedy, left when he emigrated to Boston 120 years ago.

The cottage now is a storage shed.

Hundreds of jubilant Irish milled around the lane in front of Mrs. Ryan's home.

The President came to the hamlet of Dungarstown after a tumultuous welcome from thousands at nearby New Ross, the port from which Patrick Kennedy sailed to the United States.

"If he hadn't left, I'd be working at the Albatross company," Kennedy told the welcomers, drawing a roar of laughter.

The Albatross company is a fertilizer factory on the other side of the River Barrow.

The President thanked Mrs. Ryan and "all the Kennedys who stayed here" for the party.

"This was a fine effort and we thank you very much," the President said. "I promise you we won't come back oftener than once every 10 years."

Offered Freedom of City

Ambassador Matthew McCloskey kept reminding the President it was time to go but Kennedy was having too good a time to tear himself away abruptly. Finally the President boarded his helicopter to fly to Wexford.

In Wexford, by the Irish Sea, thousands greeted the President and offered him the freedom of the city.

The President landed in his helicopter at the Wexford park soccer field and motored past cheering crowds to the Barry statue on Crescent Quay.

The town declared the day a holiday except for essential services.

Weather Cooperates

The President had left Dublin in a cold gusty rain for the 110-mile flight to New Ross, but the skies cleared and the weather was bright and clear when he landed to the cheers of thousands.

The streets of New Ross—a virtually sleepy port of 5,000—bulged with crowds of excited Irish who cheered wildly as the President rode to the quay in an open car.

Chairman A.R. Minihan of the Town Council told Kennedy:

"The late Pope John XXIII was known as the Pope of Peace. We would like you, John Fitzgerald Kennedy, to be known as the President of Peace."

on school tax bills of September 1964.

In June 1956 a $3,475,000 bond issue for the new junior-senior high school, Mt. Marion School, and alterations to Glasco and Main Street Schools was approved 1,152 to 577.

Three succeeding bond issues have been defeated.

In September 1960, a $1,450,000 program for a junior high school addition was defeated 1,677 to 711.

In May 1962, a $1,220,00 proposal for a 14-room elementary school at Katsbaan, a junior high school building, and for purchase of a site at Barclay Heights for an elementary school, was defeated by 45 votes, 1,220 to 1,175.

In June 1962, the same proposal was presented for $20,000 less, dropping the site purchase proposal. This was defeated by 404 votes, 2,127 to 1,723.

Balloting yesterday was from noon to 9 p. m. at Main Street School. Four voting machines were used.

To Meet July 23

A special meeting will be held July 23 at 8 p. m. at the offices in the Spinnenweber Building at which time a member of the Job Development Authority will outline the qualifications for obtaining a loan. Dale Schwartzmiller, regional director of the State Commerce Department, will be on hand to explain its role in the development of new industry. All interested citizens are invited to attend.

Named Alfred Dean

ALFRED, N.Y. (AP)—Dr. Lewis C. Butler, first director of the Central Institute of Mathematics at the University of Concepcion in Chile, has been appointed dean of the graduate school at Alfred University.

Butler, a member of the Alfred faculty since 1957, has been on leave of absence for 2½ years to work in Chile. He will assume his new post next month, succeeding Dr. John W. Gustad, who has been acting dean for the last year.

cern is what this will do to the Tory government."

Tower said the latest scandal—the arrest of Swedish Air Force Col. Stig Erik Wennerstrom as a Soviet spy—broke too recently to see how it affects the security of the United States, but "I would be more concerned about the Swedish affair than the British affair."

At the State Department, all officials were meeting requests for comment with a stiff "no comment."

Wennerstrom, arrested in Stockholm, was accused of turning over military data on Sweden and other countries. The Swedes did not name the other countries, but they presumably included the United States.

Wennerstrom was Sweden's air attache in Washington from 1952 to 1957. This job gave him access to secrets involved in Sweden's purchase of the U.S. Army Hawk missile system in 1960.

In the United Nations case, FBI and Central Intelligence Agency agents are reported investigating at least 15 girls who are said to have worked in New York for Harry Alan Towers, a British Broadcasting Co. producer.

Towers jumped $10,000 bail in New York in 1961 after he was charged with importing Maria Novotny, a relative of President Antonin Novotny of Communist Czechoslovakia, into the United States to work as a prostitute. Miss Novotny later was convicted as a prostitute.

After he jumped bail, Towers showed up in Communist East Europe.

Smoke Screen: Maria

In London, Miss Novotny said the U.S. investigation of an alleged call girl racket was a smoke screen to hide American embarrassment of what she called the involvement of American servicemen with Christine Keeler in the Profumo affair.

Miss Keeler is the British party girl who had an affair with British Minister of War John Profumo and a Soviet naval attache at the same time. This led to the resignation of Profumo and an investigation by the British government into any possible harm to British security.

Three U.S. airmen based in Britain were flown back to the United States last week after rumors linked them to Miss Keeler.

On Monday, Asst. Secretary of defense Arthur Sylvester told newsmen that the Department of Defense investigation "has not given any indication whatsoever of any security violation."

He said only two of the airmen had known Miss Keeler and they had "no intimate contact with her."

Others Elected

Other Federalists who gained office were Loftus C. Carson III of Rochester, lieutenant governor, and William J. Clinton of Syracuse, comptroller.

The only Nationalist who won a top office was Carl A. Spoto of Brocton. He was elected attorney general.

Nationalist candidates also took four of the five judgeships in the Court of Appeals. James H. Higby of Eaton was named chief justice.

Plans on Teaching

Mills, who plans a career in teaching, campaigned on a platform calling for stronger civil rights measures and the elimination of pollution in state waterways.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mills.

New Charter . . .

some wards have an alderman for 600 people while others have the same representation for 4,900 people. It is proposed, he added, that this vote inequity would be corrected by having the people of the city represented by nine councilmen all elected at-large.

Wider Representation

"This means," he said, "that every city resident would be represented by nine persons instead of just one as at present."

The recurring vote on councilmen, he stressed, would give the voters an opportunity to change control of city government each two years. The charter proposes new responsibilities for the council and more direct responsibility for the mayor in the operation of the city.

The commission is meeting frequently to have the draft of the charter ready for a public hearing next month.

SLA Jury Vacations

NEW YORK (AP)—The grand jury investigating the State Liquor Authority (SLA) has started a summer vacation after handing up two more indictments.

Fourteen persons have been indicted since last fall when the grand jury started its inquiry into graft and other corruption in SLA operations. One defendant committed suicide under a subway train shortly after he was indicted last winter, police said.

The new indictments — handed up Wednesday — were against Jack M. Golly, 52, operator of a bar on the Bowery, and Harry Neyer, 59, a lawyer.

Rains Pose Threat to Ga. Tobacco

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scattered severe thunderstorms occurred early Thursday over Eastern Nebraska, an area just beginning to recover from floods caused by heavy rain earlier in the week.

Continued heavy rains over Georgia have threatened the state's $90 million tobacco crop. Some 7.4 inches of rain fell Wednesday on Athens, Ga., while 11 straight days of rain have dropped almost 6.5 inches of rain on Atlanta.

Scattered severe thunderstorms occurred over South Dakota, Iowa and Southwestern Minnesota. Wind gusts up to 67 m.p.h. were measured at Soux City, Iowa.

Most of the remainder of the nation experienced clear skies and warm temperatures Thursday morning, a prelude in the midwest to another day of mid-90 temperatures.

Pope Reconvenes Council Sept. 29

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has formally ordered the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council to reconvene Sept. 29, the Vatican announced today.

An announcement by the Vatican's special council press office disclosed the date and said the text of the order will be sent to Roman Catholic bishops around the world.

More than 2,500 are expected to come to Rome for the assembly, the biggest gathering of Roman Catholic prelates in history. The council was first called by Pope John XXIII to promote the cause of Christian unity.

The council convened last Oct. 11. Pope John recessed it on Dec. 8 until Sept. 8, but it was automatically suspended by Pope John's death.

Pope Paul, 24 hours after his election, announced in his first message to the world that he would continue the council.

There was still a question, however, whether Pope Paul would bring the council to a conclusion by Christmas. John had hoped to do so.

Vatican circles said the three-week delay might not permit this, and that a third council session might be necessary.

Other Vatican sources said Pope Paul also might be considering prolonging the council to take up some matters that John apparently had decided to put off in order to complete the council by Christmas.

Pipinelis Wins Vote

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The Greek parliament gave the caretaker government of Premier Panayotis Pipinelis a 172-14 vote of confidence Wednesday night.

Pipinelis replaced Constantine Caramanlis, who quit after King Paul and Queen Frederika rejected his recommendation that they call off their state visit to Britain next month.
